Aga Khan University Examination Board

Notes from E-Marking Centre on HSSC-II Pakistan Studies Examination April/ May 2019

Introduction

This document has been produced for the teachers and candidates of the Secondary School Certificate (HSSC) Part II subject in Pakistan Studies. It contains comments on candidates' responses to the 2019 HSSC-II Examination, indicating the quality of the responses and highlighting their relative strengths and weaknesses.

E-Marking Notes

This includes overall comments on students' performance on every question and some specific examples of students' responses which support the mentioned comments. Please note that the descriptive comments represent an overall perception of the better and weaker responses as gathered from the e-marking session. However, the candidates' responses shared in this document represent some specific example(s) of the mentioned comments.

Teachers and candidates should be aware that examiners may ask questions that address the Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs) in a manner that require candidates to respond by integrating knowledge, understanding and application skills they have developed during the course of study. Candidates are advised to read and comprehend each question carefully before writing the response to fulfil the demand of the question.

Candidates need to be aware that the marks allocated to the questions are related to the answer space provided on the examination paper as a guide to the length of the required response. A longer response will not in itself lead to higher marks. Candidates need to be familiar with the command words in the SLOs which contain terms commonly used in examination questions. However, candidates should also be aware that not all questions will start with or contain one of the command words. Words such as 'how', 'why' or 'what' may also be used.

General Comments

The exam paper of Pakistan Studies comprises of the following components: history, geography, culture and civilisations, foreign policy, administrative structure, constitutional and economic development of Pakistan. Overall, the candidates performed well in the paper and performed better in other components as compared to history. Moreover, the candidates performed relatively better in those questions which were general in nature such as steps to counter environmental pollution and importance of national integration.

The candidates mostly struggled to attempt questions which were specific in nature or were linked with a situation, speech or reference. In such questions, it was observed that the candidates wrote generalised answers and failed to answer with respect to either the command word or other key words in the question. Practice in close reading and applying their knowledge and understanding to the situation given in the question is likely to help candidates perform better in such questions.

Note: Candidates' responses reproduced in this report have not been corrected for grammar, spelling, format or factual information.

Detailed Comments

Constructed Response Questions (CRQs)

Question 1:

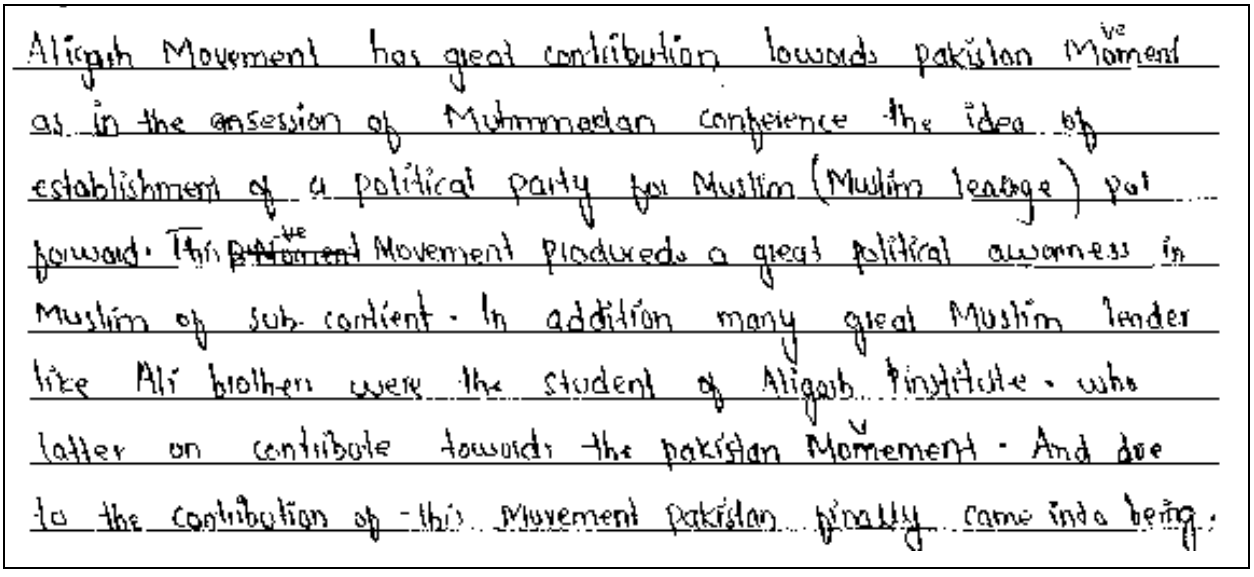

Aligarh Movement in the 19th and 20th century was termed as a renaissance for the Muslims of the subcontinent. This movement paved the way towards the idea of an independent state and later to the formation of Pakistan.

Explain any TWO contributions of the Movement towards Pakistan Movement.

This was a four marks question, where one mark was awarded for mentioning of the contribution and the additional mark was for the explanation that connected it to Pakistan Movement.

Better responses covered the contributions of Aligarh with respect to the Pakistan Movement. the contribution included the training of future leaders which were the source of inspiration to the Muslim population of the subcontinent/ appreciation of ones' culture alongside the acquisition of western education which led the students of Aligarh University to play an active part in the election campaigning during the period of 1944-45/ political awareness amongst the masses in terms of their rights and setting up of Muhammadan Educational Conference which later led to the formation of All India Muslim League.

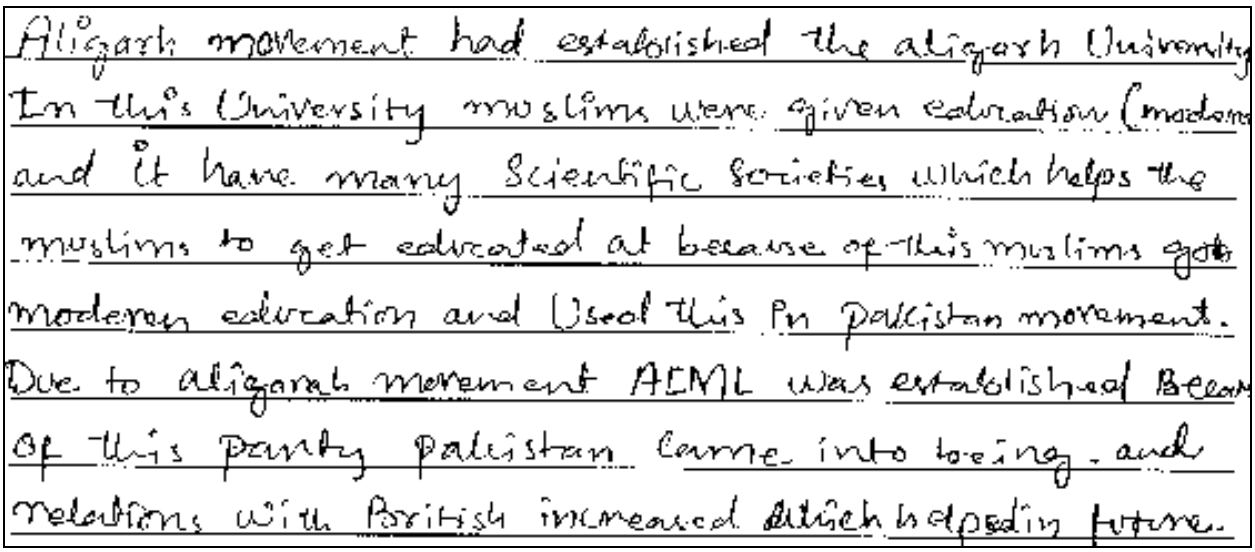

Example:

Aligarh Movement has great contribution towards pakistan Movement as in the session of Muhmmedan conference the idea of establishment of a political party for Muslim (Muslim league) put forward. This Movement produced a great political awarness in Muslim of sub continent. In addition many great Muslim leader like Ali brothers were the student of Aligarh Institute. who latter on contribute towards the pakistan Movement. And due to the contribution of this Movement pakistan finally came into being.

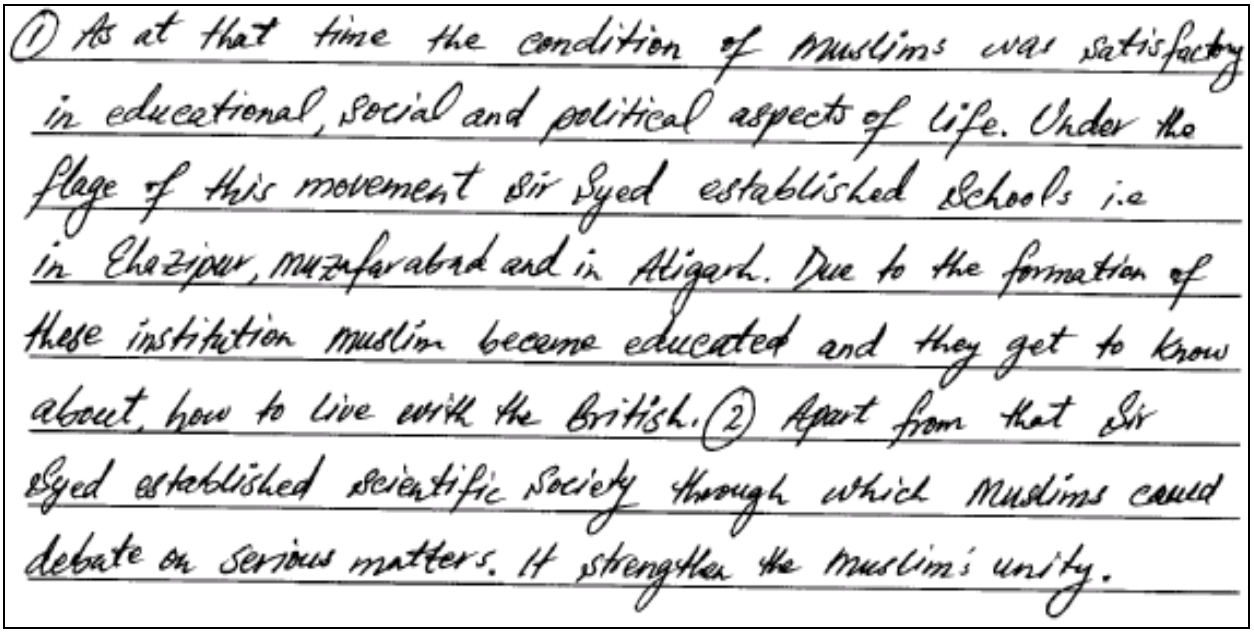

Weaker responses reflected two major mistakes made by the candidates. Firstly, the candidates were not able to understand the question, in particular the command word, i.e. 'explain'. Thus, they only mentioned the achievements of Aligarh Movement.

Example 1:

Aligarh movement had established the aligarh University In this University muslims were given education (madern and it have many Scientific societies which helps the muslims to get educated at because of this muslims gots modern education and Used this Pn pakistan movement. Due to aligarah movement AIML was established Becam of this party pakistan Came into toeing. and relations with British increased which helpeding future.

Secondly, the candidates did not understand that the question demanded a focus of the 'Aligarh Movement' in particular and not the 'contribution made by Sir Syed Ahmed Khan' in general. The candidates need to realise that Aligarh Movement is not synonymous with the efforts of Sir Syed Ahmed Khan. The movement started due to his efforts but all his efforts are not part of just Aligarh Movement.

Example 2:

(1) As at that time the condition of muslims was satisfactory in educational, social and political aspects of life. Under the flage of this movement Sir Syed established Schools i.e in Ghazipur, muzafarabad and in Aligarh. Due to the formation of these institution muslim became educated and they get to know about how to live with the British. (2) Apart from that Sir Syed established scientific Society through which muslims cauld debate on serious matters. It strengthen the muslim's unity.

Question 2:

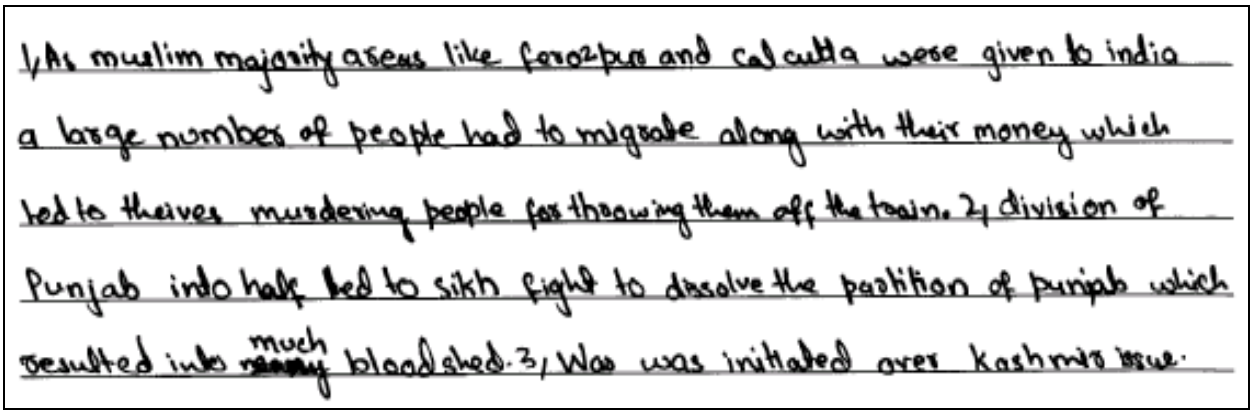

Partition of India in the late summer and early autumn of 1947 was one of bloodiest episodes in British imperial history.

In light of the given statement, evaluate any THREE impacts of Boundary Commission on the people of the subcontinent?

This was a three marks question, and evaluation of each impact was awarded one mark. The mentioning of the decisions or the impacts, other than the ones linked with the death and displacement of millions of people, were not awarded any marks.

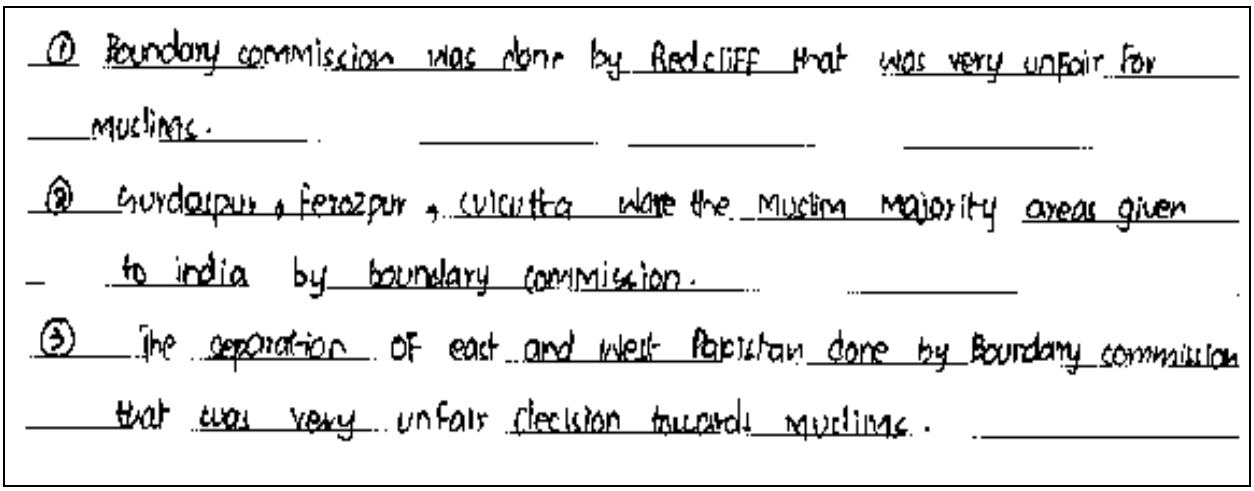

Better responses highlighted that the candidates were able to mention the impacts of Boundary Commission as well as connect it with the statement given above. The impacts included mass movement of refugees/ violence/ Kashmir issue and forcible accession of princely states. Such responses further evaluated these impacts in terms of how these were linked to the massacre claiming the partition to be one of the bloodiest episodes in recorded history.

Example:

1/As muslim majority areas like Ferozpur and Calcutta were given to India a large number of people had to migrate along with their money which led to theives murdering people for throwing them off the train. 2/ division of Punjab into half led to sikh fight to dissolve the partition of punjab which resulted into much bloodshed. 3/ War was initiated over Kashmir issue.

Weaker responses gave non-specific and irrelevant descriptions such as the economic impact of handing over Calcutta to India or administrative issues such as lack of trained personnel to handle things. Moreover, some of the candidates simply mentioned the decisions made by the Boundary Commission, without fulfilling the demands of both the command word as well the key words ‘impact’ and ‘people’ mentioned in the question.

Example:

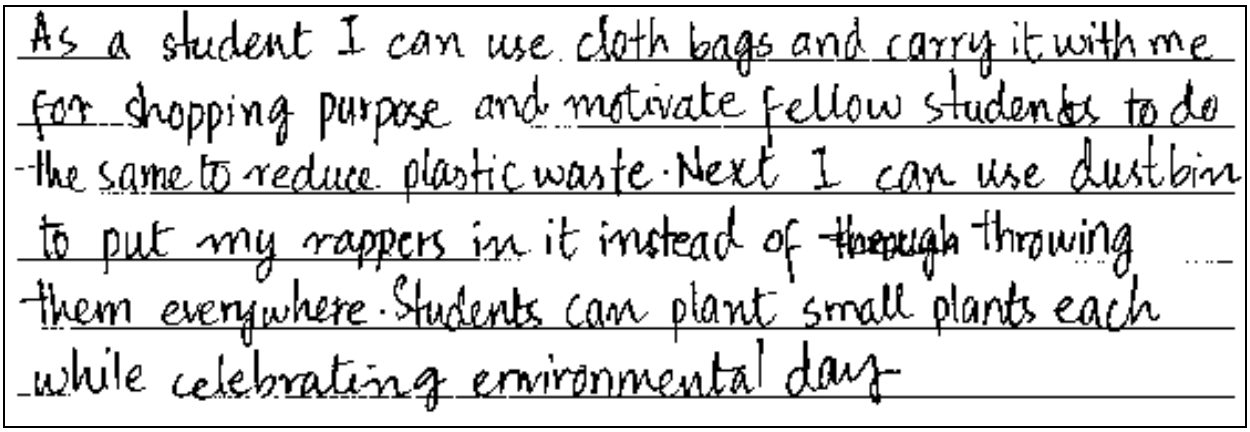

Question 3:

What THREE steps can you take, as a student, to control environmental pollution?

This was also a three marks question and mentioning of each step which is practical and logical with respect to the student was awarded one mark.

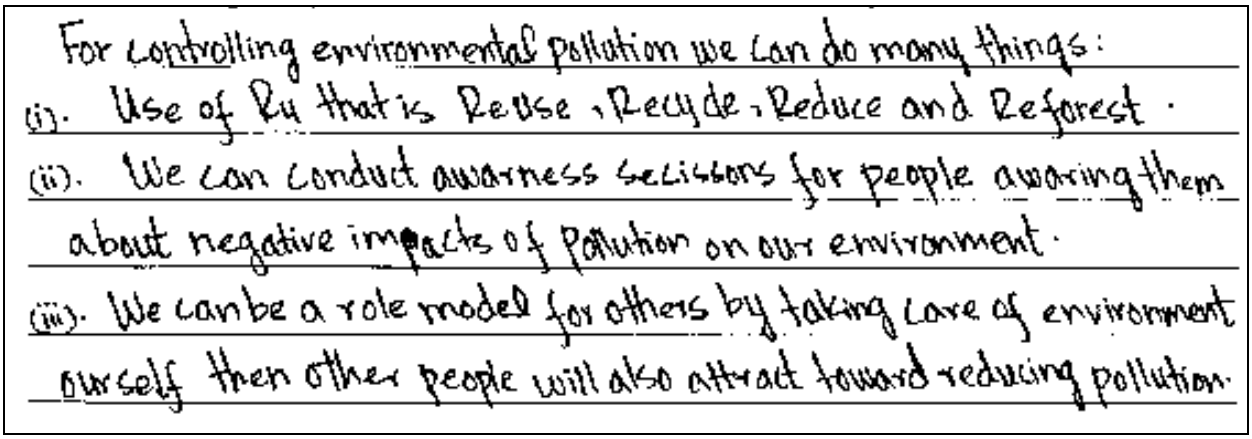

Better responses were those which actually talked about the steps a student can take in order to control environmental pollution. This included awareness sessions/ carpooling/ throwing or disposal of waste appropriately/ reusing plastic bags/ avoiding use of plastic bags and use cloth bags/ maintenance of vehicles to avoid noise and air pollution.

Example:

Weaker responses mentioned steps that were either not practical for a student or were too general such as use of 3Rs i.e. reuse, recycle, reduce (as the question specifically asked for steps thus mentioning 3Rs was not considered to be enough to grant one mark; marks were awarded only on the use of 3Rs in a student's context). Some of the candidates mentioned steps; like, I will put dustbins in all areas or installing hydro-electric power plant or solar panels in their homes which are impractical for an individual student.

Example:

For controlling environmental pollution we can do many things:
(i). Use of Ry that is Reuse, Recycle, Reduce and Reforest.
(ii). We can conduct awarness seciscons for people awaring them about negative impacts of pollution on our environment.
(iii). We can be a role model for others by taking care of environment ourself then other people will also attract toward reducing pollution.

Question 4:

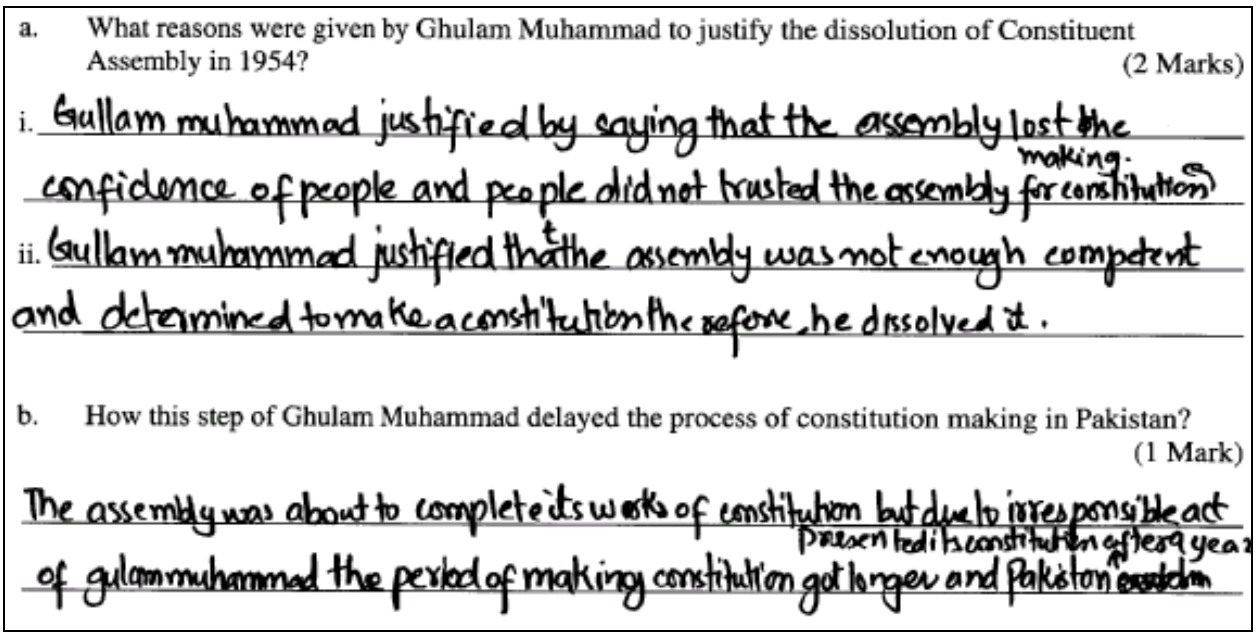

a. What reasons were given by Ghulam Muhammad to justify the dissolution of Constituent Assembly in 1954?

b. How this step of Ghulam Muhammad delayed the process of constitution making in Pakistan?

This was a three marks question. The candidates were required to give two reasons given by Ghulam Muhammad for dissolving the constituent assembly and then the impact of this decision. Despite this being a past paper question, candidates were not able to perform it well.

Better responses were those which correctly mentioned the reasons given by Ghulam Muhammad during his speech when he had announced the dissolution of the assembly which included that the assembly has been inefficient in making the constitution and secondly the assembly had lost the confidence of the masses.

Example:

a. What reasons were given by Ghulam Muhammad to justify the dissolution of Constituent Assembly in 1954? (2 Marks)

i. Gullam muhammad justified by saying that the assembly lost the confidence of people and people did not trusted the assembly for constitution making.

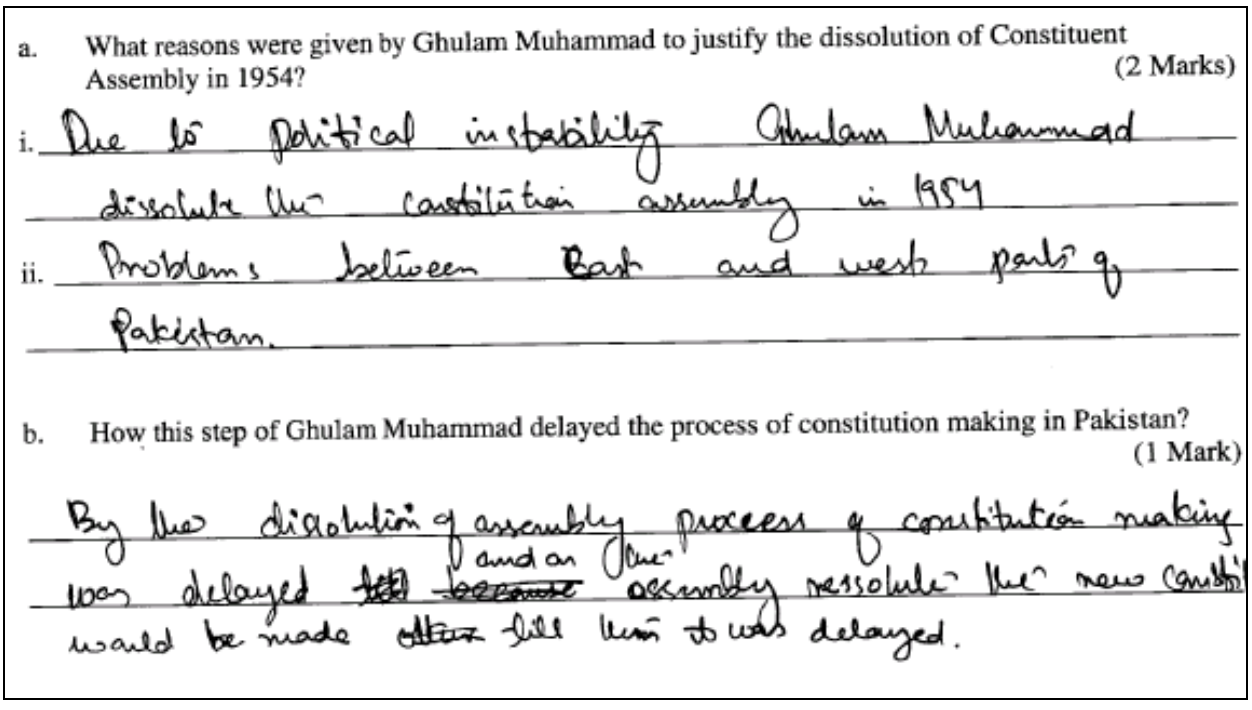

ii. Gullam muhammad justified that the assembly was not enough competent and determined to make a constitution therefore, he dissolved it.

b. How this step of Ghulam Muhammad delayed the process of constitution making in Pakistan? (1 Mark)

The assembly was about to complete its works of constitution but due to irresponsible act of gulam muhammad the period of making constitution got longer and Pakistan presented its constitution after 9 years

Weaker responses were the ones where the candidates were not able to mention the reasons given by Ghulam Muhammad but mentioned the reasons which were working behind the scenes such as the strife between Ghulam Muhammad and Muhammad Ali Bogra, political struggle of power, etc. Some candidates also wrote generalised answers like 'political instability'.

Example:

a. What reasons were given by Ghulam Muhammad to justify the dissolution of Constituent Assembly in 1954? (2 Marks)

i. Due to political instability Ghulam Muhammad dissolute the constitution assembly in 1954

ii. Problems between East and west parts of Pakistan.

b. How this step of Ghulam Muhammad delayed the process of constitution making in Pakistan? (1 Mark)

By the dissolution of assembly process of constitution making was delayed and an new assembly ressolute the new constitution would be made after till then to was delayed.

Question 5:

After taking charge of his office, Hazrat Umer (RA) spoke to the Muslims of Medina:

'..O people, you have some rights on me which you can always claim. One of your rights is that if anyone of you comes to me with a claim, he should leave satisfied. Another of your rights is that you can demand that I take nothing unjustly from the revenues of the State. You can also demand that... I fortify your frontiers and do not put you into danger. It is also your right that if you go to battle I should look after your families as a father would while you are away.

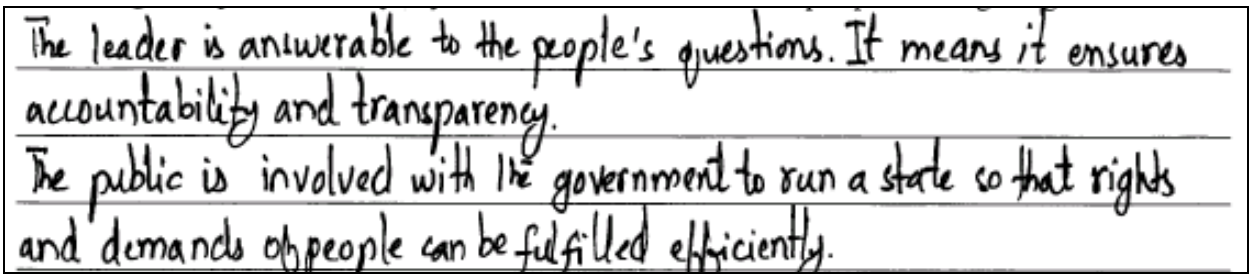

O people, remain conscious of God, forgive me my faults and help me in my task. Assist me in enforcing what is good and forbidding what is evil. Advise me regarding the obligations that have been imposed upon me by God...'

From the given speech, identify any TWO attributes of the Islamic perspective of good governance.

This was a two marks question. The candidates were expected to read the speech and identify characteristics of good governance from the speech itself.

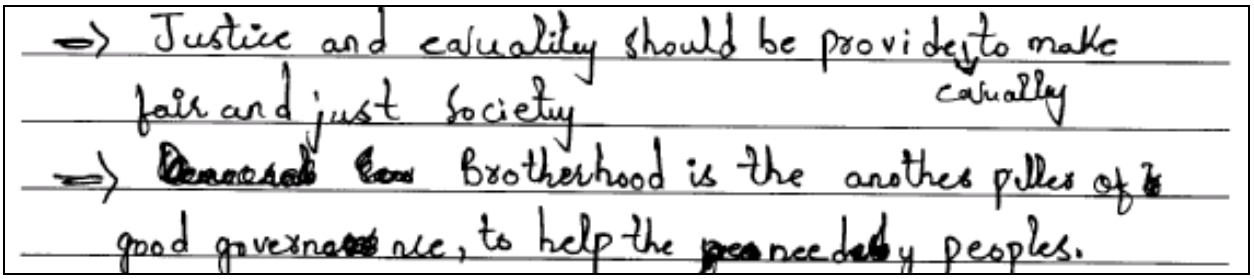

Better responses were those in which the candidates identified the components from the given speech which included, accountability, protection of the people, justice and fairness, enforcement of good and forbidding of evil.

Example:

The leader is answerable to the people's questions. It means it ensures accountability and transparency.
The public is involved with the government to run a state so that rights and demands of people can be fulfilled efficiently.

Weaker responses, instead of using the speech to identify the components, mentioned general components of good governance such as sovereignty of Allah, brotherhood, etc. Many such responses identified democracy as a component mentioned in the speech which was incorrect as the speech mentioned the approach of common man to the government office but there was no mention of majority's will to be the basis of decisions.

Example:

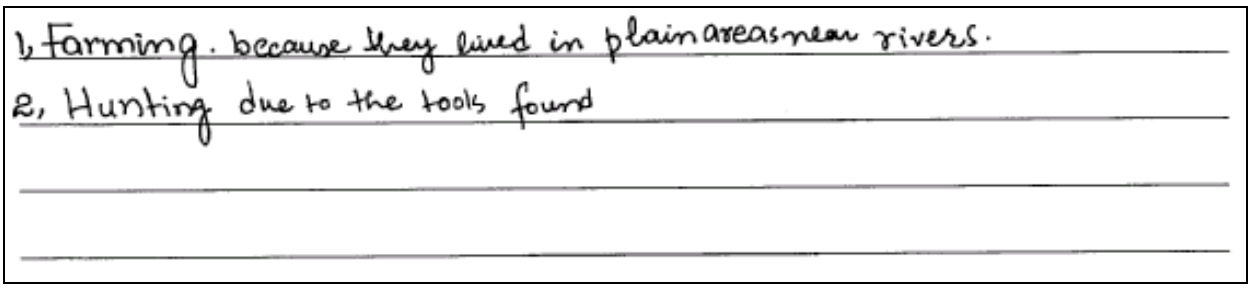

Question 6:

List any TWO occupations that the people of Soan Civilisation are associated with.

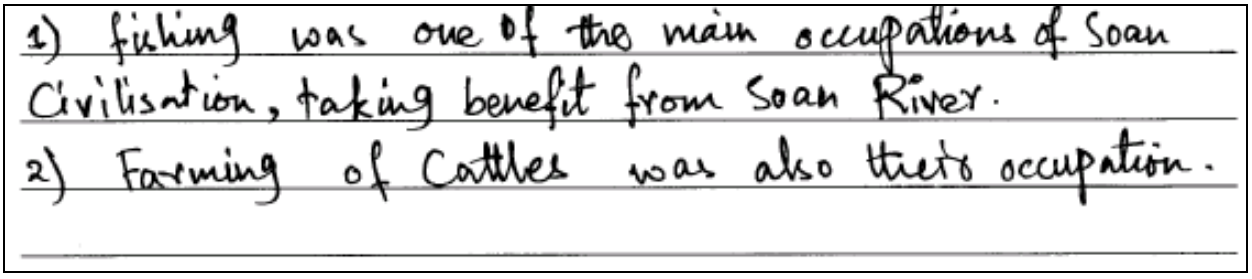

This was a knowledge based question and required candidates to mention any two occupations that the people of Soan Civilisation were associated with.

As the Soan civilization was a society of hunters and gatherers. Thus, better responses clearly mentioned occupations such as hunting, agriculture/ farming, animal husbandry/ livestock farming, fishing and craftsmanship (pottery and statue making).

Example 1:

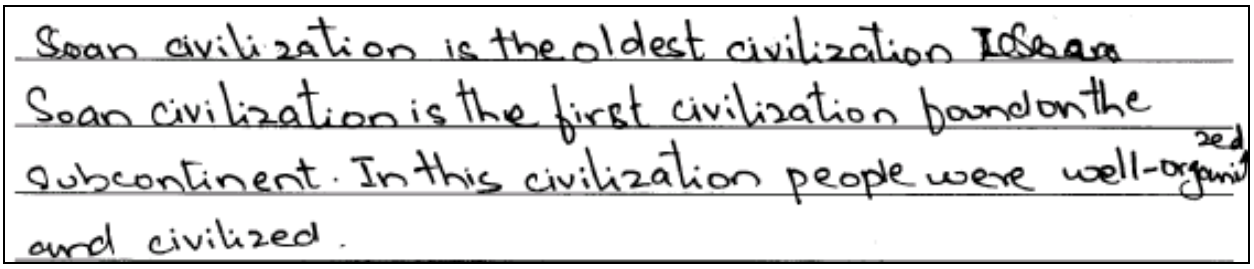

Example 2:

There were few weaker responses. Such responses either discussed the civilization in general or irrelevant occupations like carpet weaving, knitting, architecture as the occupation which led to the loss of marks in this question.

Example 1:

Soan civilization is the oldest civilization ~~IOSoan~~
Soan civilization is the first civilization found on the subcontinent. In this civilization people were well-organized and civilized.

Example 2:

1) Fishing
2) Knitting.

Question 7:

Furqan with his large family lives on a low lying fertile land of 1 acre. His land is flooded every year due to its low lying nature. Moreover, his land is situated near the un-cemented perennial canal which provides him with regular supply of water yet it is destroying his land.

In light of the given situation, answer the following questions:

a. What type of farming should Furqan undertake?

b. Identify the problem Furqan's land is facing.

c. Give ONE reason to support your identification in part (b).

d. Give ONE appropriate and affordable suggestion for Furqan to overcome the problem.

This question was based on the situation given above. The candidates were expected to read the situation and, based on the information given, answer part 'a', 'b' and 'c'. Furthermore, for part 'd', they had to mention not only appropriate but affordable solution for the problem highlighted in the given situation.

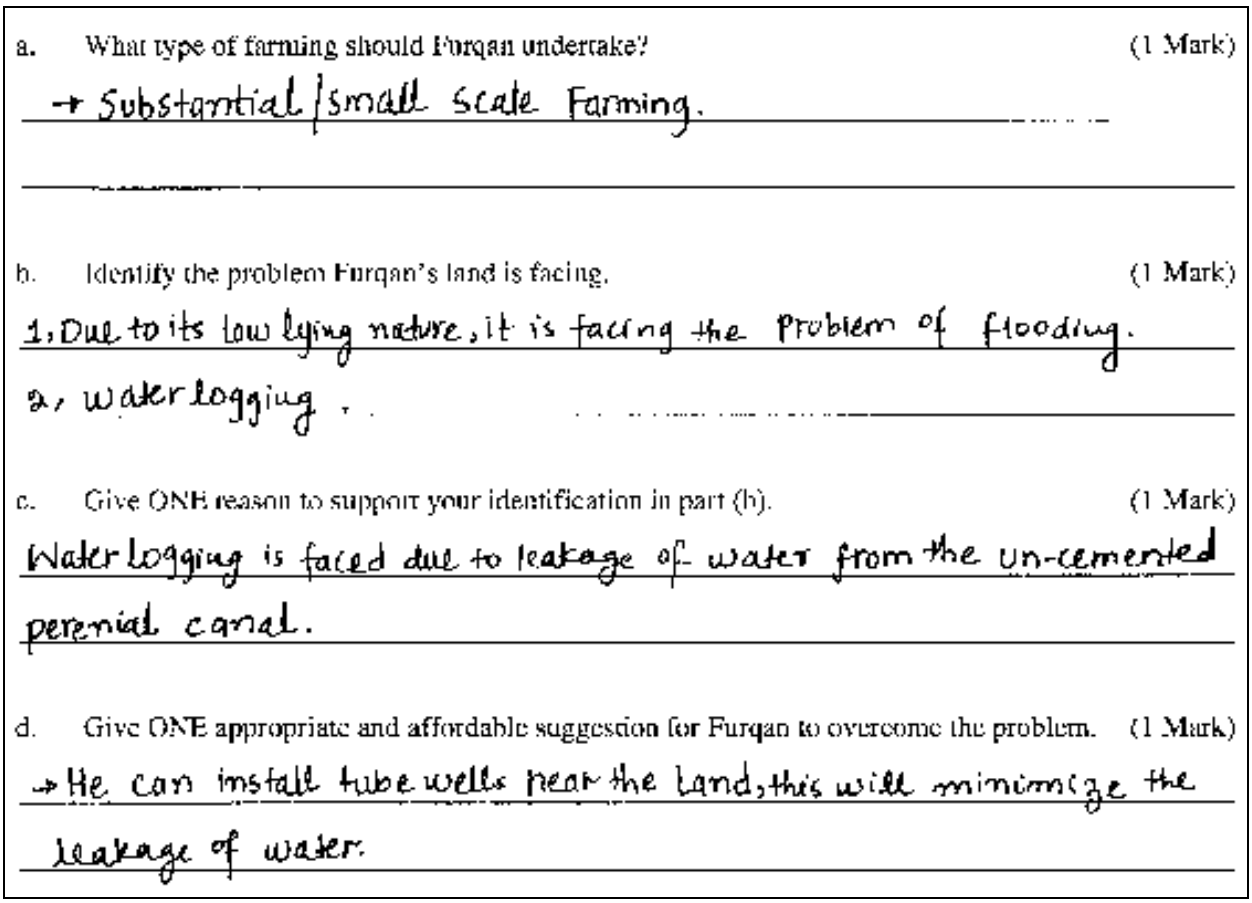

Better responses reflected understanding of candidates in terms of type of farming with respect to land holdings/ size.The candidates rightly identified the type to be that of small scale subsistence farming. Some of the candidates even mentioned fish farming which is also a possibility in the given situation.

For part 'b', the candidates identified the problem as waterlogging. The given situation clearly indicates different reasons for this identification which were mentioned by the candidates in part

'c', i.e. being a low lying land/ being flooded every year/ presence of un-cemented perennial canals.

For part 'c', where the candidates were asked to give solution, they were able to mention appropriate and affordable solutions like installation of tubewell or plantation of eucalyptus trees.

Example:

a. What type of farming should Furqan undertake? (1 Mark)

→ Substantial/small scale Farming.

b. Identify the problem Furqan's land is facing. (1 Mark)

1, Due to its low lying nature, it is facing the Problem of flooding.

2, waterlogging.

c. Give ONE reason to support your identification in part (b). (1 Mark)

Waterlogging is faced due to leakage of water from the un-cemented perenial canal.

d. Give ONE appropriate and affordable suggestion for Furqan to overcome the problem. (1 Mark)

→ He can install tube wells near the land, this will minimize the leakage of water.

Weaker responses clearly reflected that they were not able to connect their learning with the situation given. In part 'a' instead of type of farming the candidates mentioned the crop to be grown there such as wheat/ rice etc. Furthermore the candidates in part 'b' and 'c' copied the sentences from the situation without comprehending the question. Some of the candidates even mentioned salinity as a problem whereas the situation does not have any indication of that problem. As the land given is small, thus the farmer cannot cement the canals as he would not have the resources to do it. Even the installation of tubewell is also only possible through loans or if few farmers would combine their finances to install it. As the problem was at times wrongly identified thus some of them wrote solutions of salinity i.e. using limestone which was not awarded marks.

Example:

a. What type of farming should Furqan undertake? (1 Mark)

Wheat or rice.

b. Identify the problem Furqan's land is facing. (1 Mark)

Furqan's land is fertile but it is very wet due to more water so the crops can't grow.

c. Give ONE reason to support your identification in part (b). (1 Mark)

Because of uncemented canal and the water which comes from canal destroy the land.

d. Give ONE appropriate and affordable suggestion for Furqan to overcome the problem. (1 Mark)

Suggestion is to rebuild Perennial canal with cement in proper way that with the flow of water that don't destroy the land.

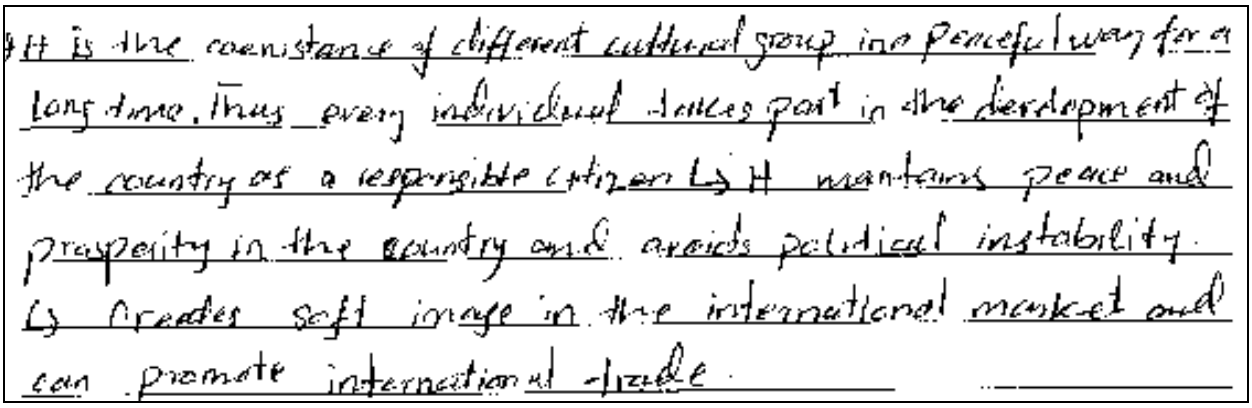

Question 8:

Why is national integration important for any country? Support your answer by mentioning any THREE points.

The question was directed towards the importance of national integration and how it helps a country to progress. Each relevant point regarding the importance was awarded one mark.

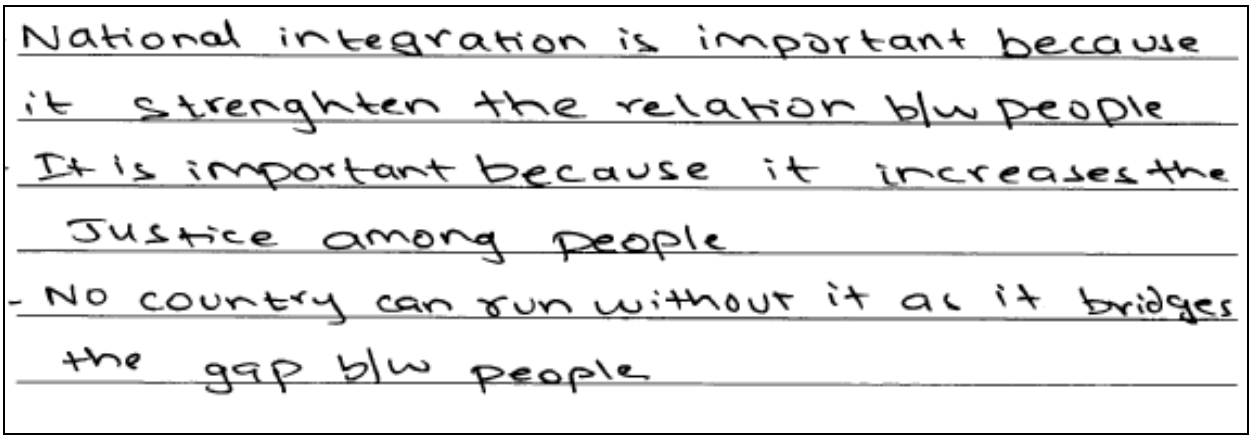

Better responses wrote that national integration brings stability which boosts economic development/ the resources are divided justly and there is peace in the country/ it initiates a sense of ownership and patriotism/ it creates a soft image of the country in the international arena leading to trade and investments/ reduces fear and strife amongst people and regions/ helps focus on a single, united direction towards development etc.

Example:

Weaker response in this case also reflected the poor attention that the candidates give while reading the questions. Some of the responses were towards how national integration can be achieved or what is the outcome of national integration i.e. unity. The candidates were unable to relate the importance of national integration to that of the country. Some of the candidates confused national integration with economic disparity of classes and gave answers that it will help eliminate poverty and will uphold justice for the people.

Example:

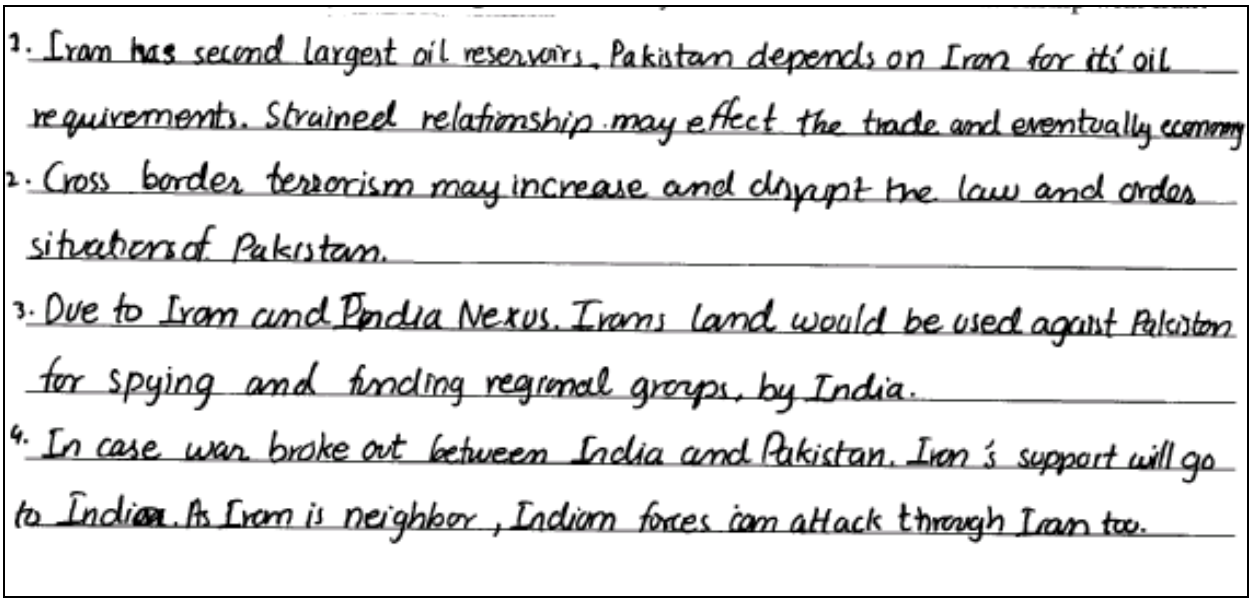

Question 9:

What are the FOUR likely disadvantages Pakistan may face due to its strained relationship with Iran?

The question was directed towards the relationship between Pakistan and Iran, as currently both the countries are facing diplomatic strains thus it was asked that if the relationship between both the countries are to deteriorate than how would it disadvantage Pakistan. Each disadvantage was awarded one mark.

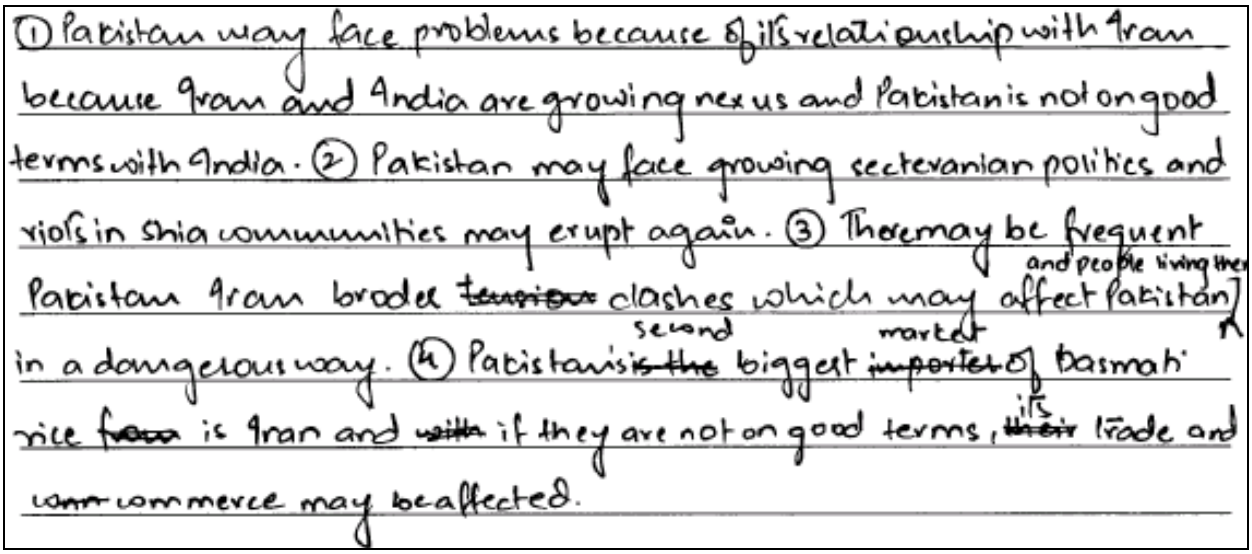

Better response reflected the understanding of relationship between Pakistan and Iran and highlighted correct disadvantages such as price rise of petroleum and its by-products/ disturbance in the balance of payment as Pakistan would not be able to export its fruits and rice to Iran/ there could be restrictions of visa and many Shia-Muslims living in Pakistan would not be able to visit the holy places in Iran/ Pakistan would have to raise the cost of defence as the border insecurity would increase/ the problem of insurgency in Balochistan might rise/ the deterioration in relationship will lead to loss of Muslim-ally in the region/ Pakistan would be facing threats from both sides that is India and Iran etc.

Example 1:

1. Iran has second largest oil reservoirs, Pakistan depends on Iran for its' oil requirements. Straineed relationship may effect the trade and eventually economy
2. Cross border terrorism may increase and disrupt the law and order situations of Pakistan.
3. Due to Iran and India Nexus. Irans land would be used agaist Pakistan for spying and funding regional groups, by India.
4. In case war broke out between India and Pakistan. Iran's support will go to India. As Iran is neighbor, Indian forces can attack through Iran too.

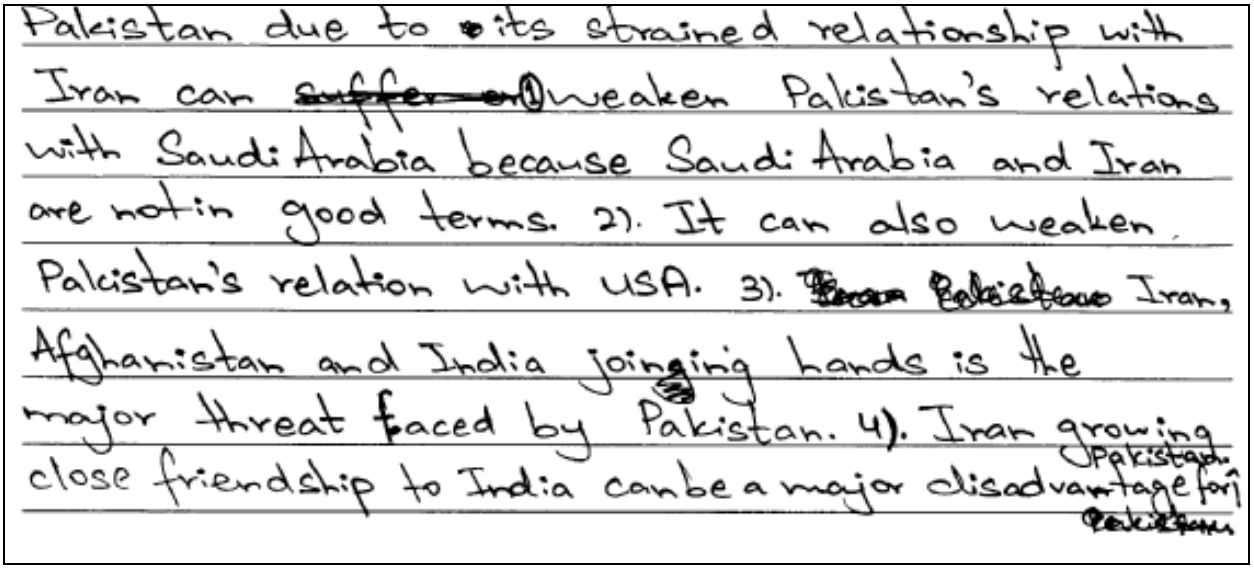

Example 2:

① Pakistan may face problems because of its relationship with Iran because Iran and India are growing nexus and Pakistan is not on good terms with India. ② Pakistan may face growing sectevanian politics and riots in Shia communities may erupt again. ③ There may be frequent Pakistan Iran broder ~~tensions~~ clashes which may affect Pakistani and people living there in a dangerous way. ④ Pakistan is ~~the~~ biggest ~~importer~~ second market of basmati rice ~~from~~ is Iran and ~~with~~ if they are not on good terms, ~~their~~ its trade and ~~com~~ commerce may be affected.

Weaker responses showed that the candidates were confused with disadvantages and advantages. The responses clearly reflected that the candidates were not aware or clear about the dynamics of the relationship between Iran and Pakistan. The responses included that Pakistan relationship with Saudi Arabia will deteriorate whereas in actuality it will get better because Saudi Arabia does not have better relations with Iran due to Shia-Sunni strife. The same is the case with USA and Pakistan. Also, some of the responses only mentioned that trade will be affected but were not specific in terms of items to be exported and imported thus such responses were not awarded marks on general statements.

Example:

Pakistan due to its strained relationship with Iran can ~~suffer~~ weaken Pakistan's relations with Saudi Arabia because Saudi Arabia and Iran are not in good terms. 2). It can also weaken Pakistan's relation with USA. 3). ~~Iran Pakistan~~ Iran, Afghanistan and India joining hands is the major threat faced by Pakistan. 4). Iran growing close friendship to India can be a major disadvantage for ~~Pakistan~~ Pakistan.

Extended Response Questions (ERQs)

This question offered a choice between part a and b. Part a was based on history whereas part b was from the topic of economic development. Majority of the candidates attempted option b and did well.

Question 10a:

Result of 1936-37 General Elections	All India Muslim League won only 109 of the 482 seats reserved for the Muslims.
Result of 1945-46 General Elections	All India Muslim League won 446 of the 495 Muslim seats in the elections.

i. Describe any TWO reasons behind the given results of each election of All India Muslim League based on their performance.

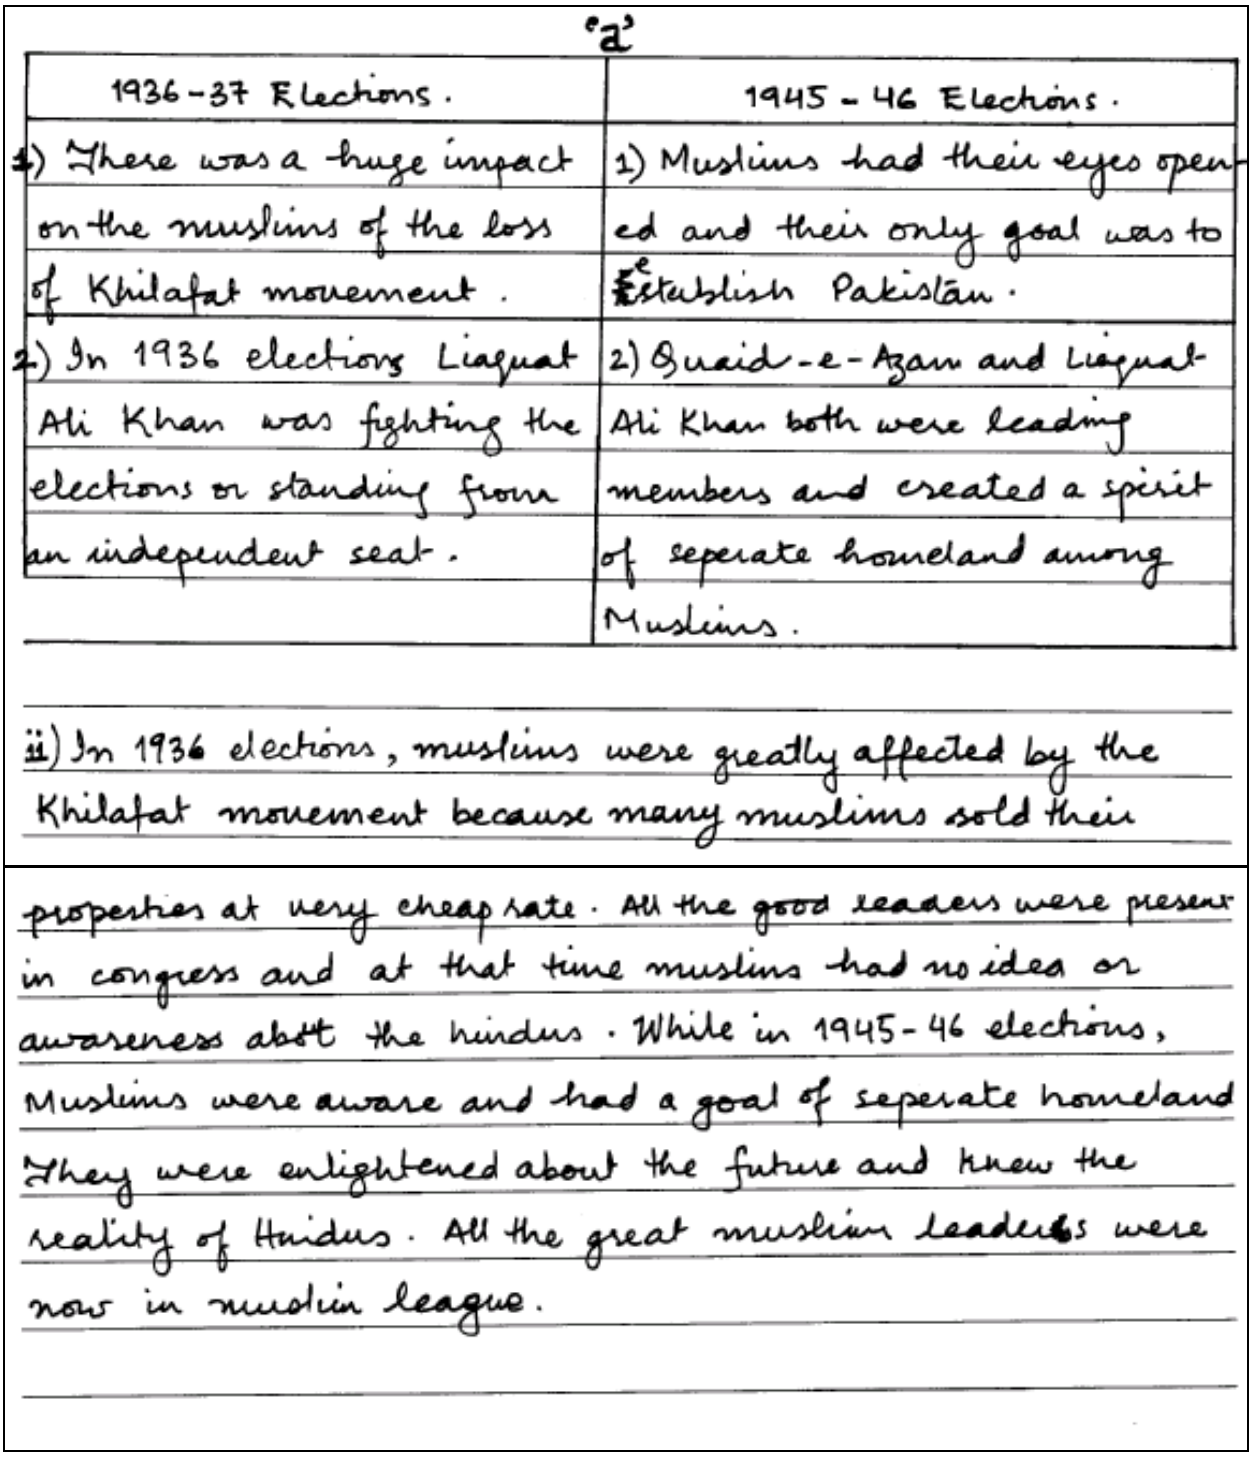

ii. Based on the reasons mentioned in part (i), analyse the basis of the difference in the result of both the elections.

The question was about the comparison between the 1936-37 and 1945-46 general elections with respect to All India Muslim League performance. The question was targeted at two different cognitive level where in part 'i', the candidates were asked to describe reasons which led to the change in the result and in part 'ii', the candidates were asked to analyse the basis on which this difference in result was achieved. The candidates were able to do part 'i' well but were not able to understand the demand and difference of the command word between the two parts thus were not able to respond well to part 'ii'.

Better responses were able to answer on both the cognitive levels and the candidates moved from description to their opinion in terms of analysis that what became the basis on which there was a difference in the outcome of the two elections. The reasons given were that in 1936-37, All India Muslim League was divided into several factions; Jinnah had just become the president and had not got enough time to organise the party; the manifesto of All India Muslim League was not much different than the Indian National Congress neither their campaigning was effective and on mass scale. Whereas in 1945-46, All India Muslim had a unified base; the Muslims realised that the rule of Congress would not be beneficial for them as well as the campaigning was taken over by Aligarh College and was done with vigour.

The analysis needed to contain the area of leadership and alliances, campaigning and the rule of Indian National Congress.

Example 1:

1936-37 Elections.	1945-46 Elections.
1) There was a huge impact on the muslims of the loss of Khilafat movement.	1) Muslims had their eyes opened and their only goal was to Establish Pakistan.
2) In 1936 elections Liaquat Ali Khan was fighting the elections or standing from an independent seat.	2) Quaid-e-Azam and Liaquat Ali Khan both were leading members and created a spirit of seperate homeland among Muslims.

ii) In 1936 elections, muslims were greatly affected by the Khilafat movement because many muslims sold their properties at very cheap rate. All the good leaders were present in congress and at that time muslims had no idea or awareness abtt the hindus. While in 1945-46 elections, Muslims were aware and had a goal of seperate homeland They were enlightened about the future and knew the reality of Hindus. All the great muslim leaders were now in muslim league.

Weaker responses were not able to focus on the given question, and generalised the answer. The response either mentioned the situation at the time of elections or outcome of the elections rather than the reasons. Furthermore, the candidates were not able to attempt the second part effectively as they were unable to differentiate between both the parts. This reflected their weak understanding of the command words and cognitive levels.

Example:

a) (i) Election 1936-1937 :-

⇒ This was the start of muslim League as a new party the muslim league objectives were not cleared.

⇒ Therefore it was newly established party so there were many conflicts in party and the peoples also know their aims

Election 1945-46 :-

⇒ These election were totaly change results these elections were important for muslims league aswell for to of the objective of the party was cleared to get seprate ectrolate seprate state

⇒ The All india muslims were also facing very difficulties in india so they also saw their idea and voted members the party was having strong bond with each other now this party (ML) was just cleared of the objectives.

(ii) The difference is just because the Muslims were also facing many problems in india so the (ML) also put demand of seprate state so thats why the megority of muslims voted Muslim League and finally in 1947 they formed a new state PAKISTAN

Question 10b:

i. Identify any THREE problems that are faced by the labours in the industrial sector of Pakistan.

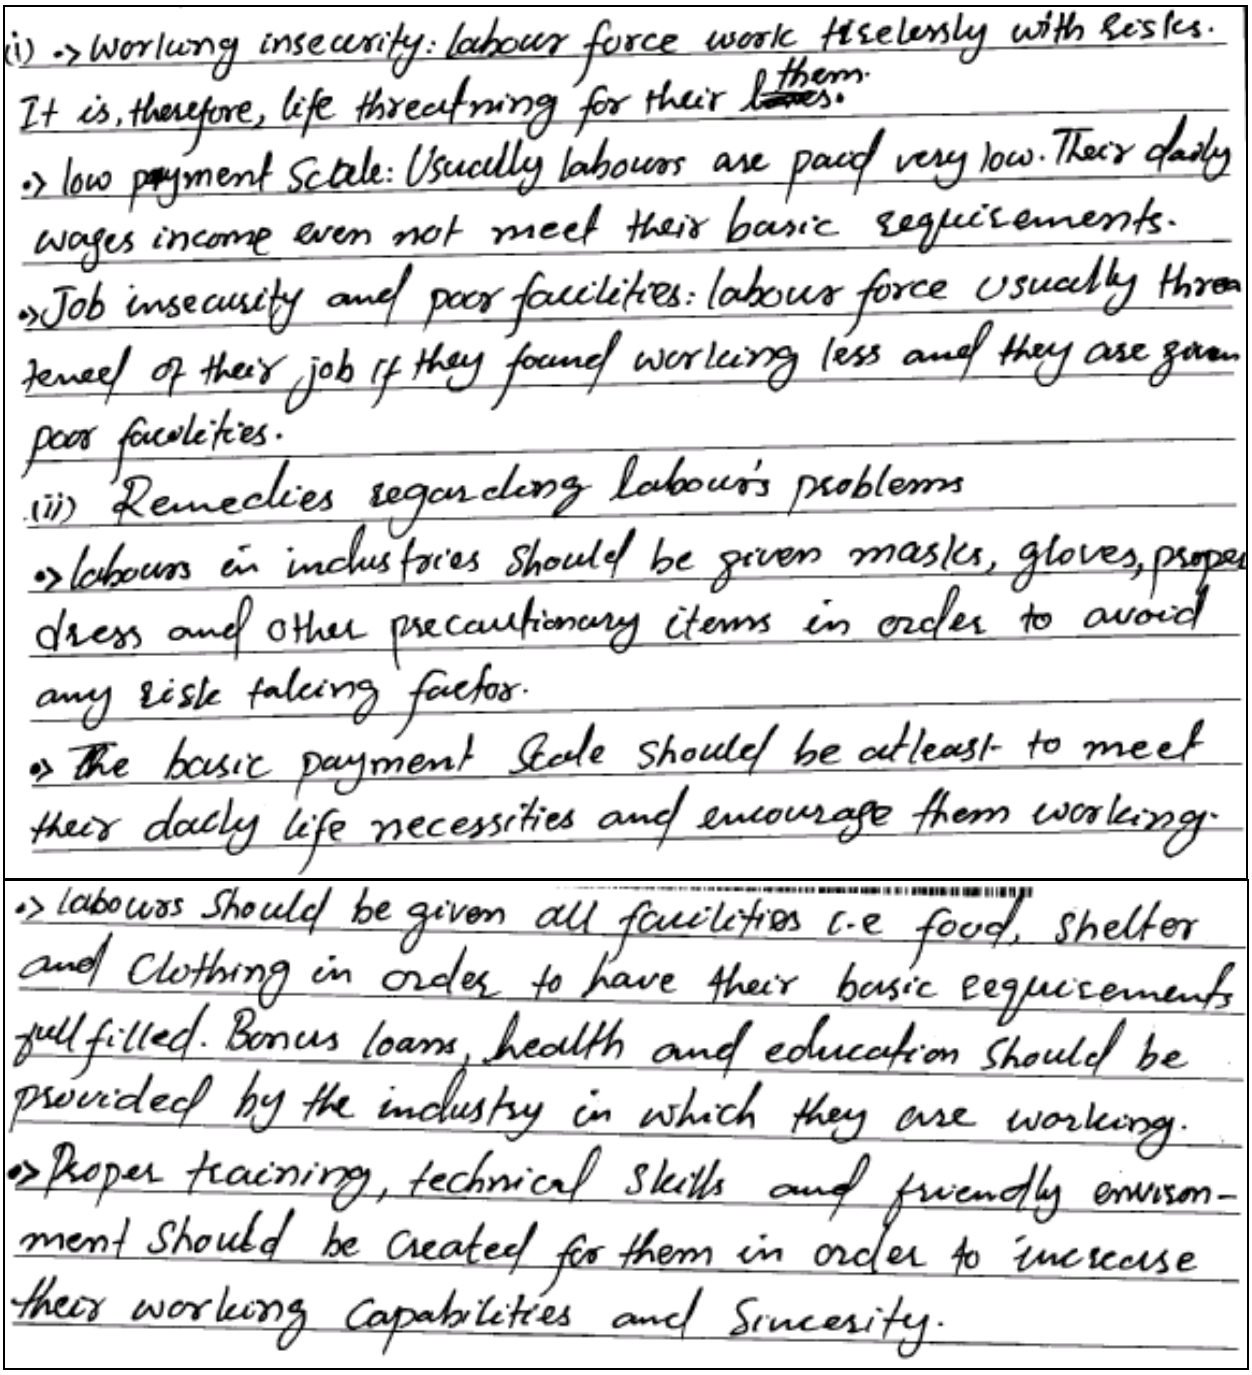

ii. Suggest any FOUR ways to overcome the problems mentioned in part (i).

This question catered to the problems of labours with respect to the industrial sector only but it had two layers. Firstly, the candidates were to mention the problem Secondly, they had to mention the solution with respect to the problem. This question was majorly attempted by the candidates. They were able to highlight the problem easily whereas when it came to put down the solutions, this part was not attempted well as the candidate tried to generalised the solutions rather than being specific to the problem identified by them.

Better responses comprised of problems faced by the industrial sector which included low wages, poor working environment in terms of health and sanitation, lack of job security, lack of health, social security and education benefits, lack of training, lack of health insurance etc.

With reference to these problems, the solutions provided were that minimum wage requirement should at least be enough to support the family which is not true at present/ implementation of labour laws in terms of minimum wages/ job security and work environment to ensure that the labours are protected in terms of social, economic and environmental harm/ awareness amongst the labours in terms of their rights to safeguard them from manipulation/ educational and vocational institutes to provide with low cost training and basic education to make them more efficient in their work/ provision of after retirement/ compensation in terms of accident should be included in law etc.

Example:

(i) -> Working insecurity: labour force work tirelessly with risks. It is, therefore, life threatning for their ~~lives~~ them.
-> low payment Scale: Usually labours are paid very low. Their daily wages income even not meet their basic requirements.
-> Job insecurity and poor facilities: labour force usually threa fereed of their job if they found working less and they are gran poor facilities.
(ii) Remedies regarding labour's problems
-> labours in industries should be given masks, gloves, proper dress and other precautionary items in order to avoid any risk taking factor.
-> The basic payment Scale should be atleast to meet their daily life necessities and encourage them working.
-> labours should be given all facilities i.e food, shelter and Clothing in order to have their basic requirements full filled. Bonus loans, health and education should be provided by the industry in which they are working.
-> Proper training, technical skills and friendly environment should be created for them in order to increase their working capabilities and sincerity.

Weaker responses showed a complete lack of understanding of the content as well as of the question. The candidates instead of talking about labour in the industrial sector mentioned the problems of labour in general or in the agricultural sector and as the other part was follow up thus they had mentioned solution to overcome the agricultural problems.

Some of the responses did not cater to the problems and generalised the solutions which were not linked to the problem, thus leading to the loss of marks.

Example:

Opt. by// Problems faced by Labours (Industrial sector).

i; Productivity is low: The productivity of crop is very low. It take to much time to cultivate naturally.

ii: Machinery: Poor farmers does not afford machines.

iii: Low variety of seed: The variety of seed is very low that's why crops are not ~~cultivated in~~ that much good quality.

Overcomes

→ The farmer should be provided with machineries. The time will be saved and labour work will be reduced.

→ The productivity of crops will increase by machines In less time, productivity would be more.

→ The fertilizer should be provided which helps in productivity.

→ Farmers should be provided with high variety of seed.

→ Farmer should be given awareness regarding agriculture. They should be trainned.

Recommendation:

The candidates as well the teachers need to put in extra effort to practice the understanding of the question with respect to the command words as well as the key theme of the question. It has been observed that the candidates who had read the questions were able to attempt it fairly well as compared to the candidates who have not spent time in comprehending the question. Moreover, the candidates have to be exposed to questions based on different situations and conditions; this will help them to answer similar questions in the examination.

It needs to be emphasised that student learning outcome (SLO) is not a question but there are different questions that are based on a single SLO thus the candidate need to be able to understand the content along with the cognitive demand to perform well in the examination. Pakistan Studies is a subject that has various dimensions but each dimension can be easily attached to the real life situation of the candidate. If that is done in the classroom, the candidates' performance in the examination will improve double fold.
