Notes from E-Marking Centre on HSSC-I English Compulsory Annual Examinations 2024

Introduction

This document has been produced for the teachers and students of Higher Secondary School Certificate (HSSC) Part I English Compulsory. It contains comments on candidates' responses to the 2024 HSSC-I Examination indicating the quality of the responses and highlighting their relative strengths and weaknesses.

E-Marking Notes

This includes overall comments on candidates' performance on every question and some specific examples of candidates' responses that support the mentioned comments. Please note that the descriptive comments represent an overall perception of the better and weaker responses as gathered from the e-marking session. However, the candidates' responses shared in this document represent some specific example(s) of the mentioned comments.

Teachers and candidates should be aware that examiners may ask questions that address the student Learning Outcomes (SLOs) in a manner that requires candidates to respond by integrating knowledge, understanding and application skills they have developed during the course of study. Candidates are advised to read and comprehend each question carefully before writing the response to fulfil the demand of the question.

Candidates need to be aware that the marks allocated to the questions are related to the answer space provided on the examination paper as a guide to the length of the required response. A longer response will not in itself lead to higher marks. Candidates need to be familiar with the command words in the SLOs which contain terms commonly used in examination questions. However, candidates should also be aware that not all questions will start with or contain one of the command words. Words such as 'how', 'why' or 'what' may also be used.

General Observations

Most candidates demonstrated proficiency in constructing well-structured responses, particularly in comparative texts and formal writings. It was observed that candidates showcased their unique ideas and perspectives in the essays on leadership, public speaking, and storytelling. However, some candidates struggled with comprehension and writing skills, highlighting the need for teachers to focus on key areas for improvement.

To address these weaknesses, teachers should emphasise the importance of identifying and understanding the cognitive level of each student learning outcome (SLO) module, approach to questions, and task achievement. This will help candidates develop a better critical approach, which is essential for success in comprehensions and comparative texts. When approaching these texts, candidates should be encouraged to think critically and analytically, focusing on text type, genre, tone, style, and details. Furthermore, reading skills need to be reinforced to enhance inferences and vocabulary implementation when attempting CRQS.

In cloze passage section, the focus should be placed on readability and proper grammatical structure. Additionally, candidates need to be taught to consider formality, tone, and style when presenting arguments, descriptions, or details, using appropriate vocabulary and jargon in their responses.

In essay writing, candidates demonstrated creative perspectives, but also struggled with weak paragraphing structures and inadequate use of cohesive and transitional devices.

It is crucial to follow the given space for each question. By addressing these areas, candidates can significantly enhance their performance. Overall, the responses reflected a spectrum of language proficiency, highlighting both strengths and areas for growth.

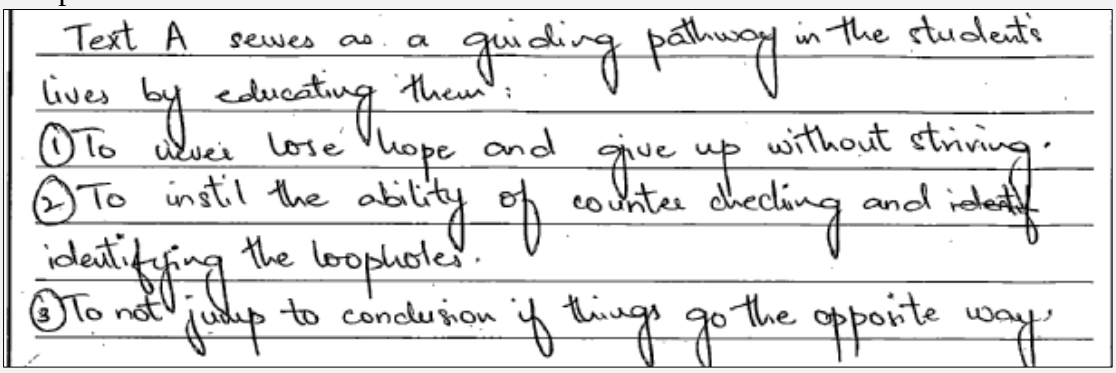

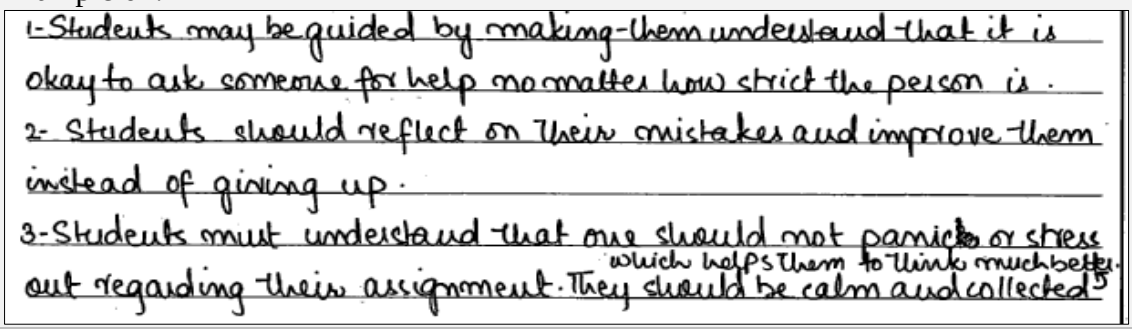

Nonetheless, it is essential for teachers to demarcate a clear division while addressing each area in CRQs as well as ERQs; and concentrate on providing candidates with practice on the relevant content/ areas of improvement to foster conceptualised understanding of English.

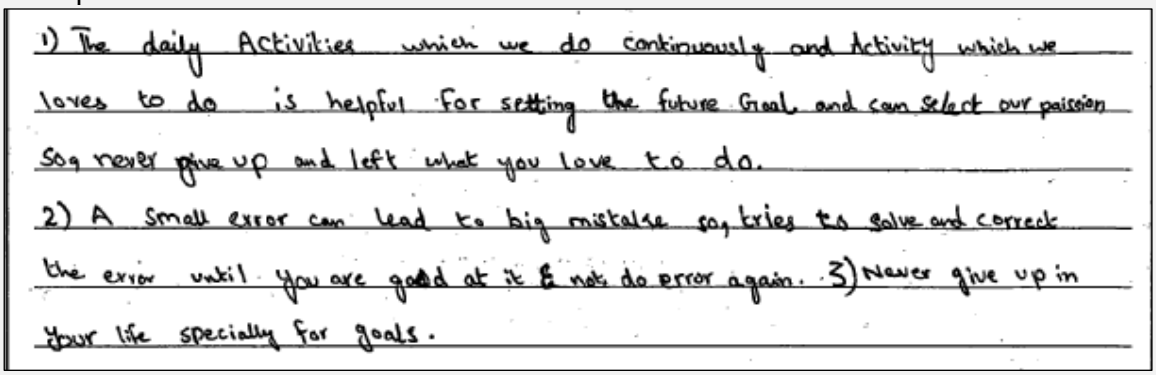

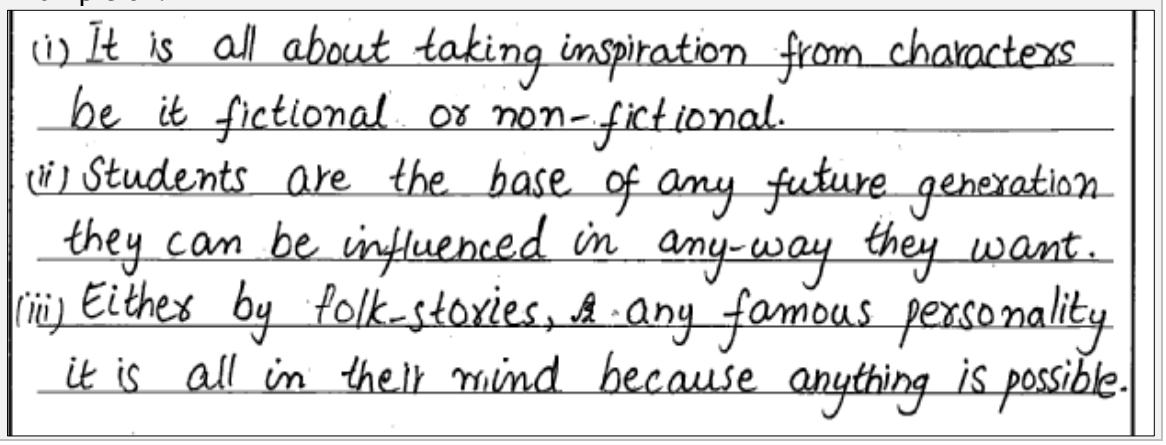

The following is a description of the task and skills required for fulfilment of those tasks.

Question No	Question Type	Skills Assessed
1 (a, b, c, d, e)	CRQs on a reading passage	- Ability to understand a reading text on a literal level (main/sub ideas) - Ability to understand a reading text on inferential level (opinions, evidence, reasoning, cause and effect, reading between the lines) - Reasoning skills
2	Cloze Passage	- Ability to read and understand the given text - Ability to provide missing information as per the context of a passage
3 (a, b) 4 (a, b, c)	Letter and Essay Writing	- Ability to develop a formal piece of writing with appropriate focus, organisation and purpose - Ability to describe, narrate, express, present the facts/logic, explain the familiar topics/situations - Ability to use accurate sentence structure. Connective devices, spellings, etc.

Note: Candidates' responses shown in this report have not been corrected for grammar, spelling, format, or information.

DETAILED COMMENTS
Constructed Response Questions (CRQs)

Question No. 1a
Question Text	Text A can be used to guide candidates in their lives. Justify the given statement in three points.
SLO No.	2.1.6
SLO Text	Evaluate surface and implied meaning of a text by the help of contextual clues: a. Surface/ explicit meaning: comprehend and respond to questions like who, what, where, when i.e. apparent phenomenon, issues or ideas. b. Implied meaning: comprehend and respond to questions like why, how, to what extent i.e. underlying message, tone and motivation of author/ characters, possible outcomes/ solutions/ suggestions.
Max Marks	3
Cognitive Level	*A
Checking Hints	1 mark for each point of justification (3 required) Any other VALID point was awarded marks
Overall Performance	Candidates generally presented points that showcased the overall understanding and inference of Text A. The candidates' answers included points that were connected to the theme and main ideas of the text.
Description of Better Responses	In better responses, candidates presented three specific points in relevance to the question. Using understanding and inference, the candidates were able to provide the following ideas that showed a linkage to Text A and its guidance to students: • The lesson of never giving up, • Asking for help from teacher(s)/ parent(s)/ friend(s), • Accepting failure for the sake of success, • Being persistent, • Being ambitious, • Setting up goals to achieve something, • Coping up with stress and demotivation.
Images of Better Responses	Example 01:  Text A serves as a guiding pathway in the students lives by educating them: (1) To never lose hope and give up without striving. (2) To instil the ability of counter checking and identify identifying the loopholes. (3) To not jump to conclusion if things go the opposite way. Example 02:  1- Students may be guided by making them understand that it is okay to ask someone for help no matter how strict the person is. 2- Students should reflect on their mistakes and improve them instead of giving up. 3- Students must understand that one should not panic or stress out regarding their assignment. They should be calm and collected which helps them to think much better. 5

Description of Weaker Responses	In weaker responses, candidates mostly presented only two justifying points, while repeating one point in elaboration. In other instances, candidates also presented only one valid point.
Images of Weaker Responses	Example 01:  1) The daily Activities which we do continuously and Activity which we loves to do is helpful for setting the future Goal and can select our paission So, never give up and left what you love to do. 2) A small error can lead to big mistake so, tries to solve and correct the error until you are good at it & not do error again. 3) Never give up in your life specially for goals. Example 02:  (i) It is all about taking inspiration from characters be it fictional or non-fictional. (ii) Students are the base of any future generation they can be influenced in any-way they want. (iii) Either by folk-stories, & any famous personality it is all in their mind because anything is possible.

Maximising SLO Achievement	Preferred Pedagogy Used for this SLO	Assessment Strategies
• Identify the expectation of command words (use Command Word Guide) • Ensure the content is taught at the relevant cognitive level • Identify necessary content required (skills + concepts) • Review past paper questions on the concept • Utilise the resource guide for additional materials	• Story Board • Cause and Effect • Fish and Bone • Concept Mapping • Audio Visual Resources • Think, Pair and Share • Knowledge Platform videos • Questioning Technique (Socratic approach) • Practical Demonstration  For description of each Pedagogy, refer to Annexure A	• Past paper questions • Discussion on E-Marking Notes • AKU-EB Digital Learning Solution powered by Knowledge Platform https://akueb.knowledgeplatform.com/login

Any Additional Suggestion: Active Reading: Encourage candidates to actively engage with the content by highlighting key points, underlining important information, and taking notes. This strategy promotes critical thinking and helps them identify the main ideas and supporting details.

Reading Response Journals: Have candidates maintain a reading response journal where they reflect on their reading experiences.

Comprehension Quizzes: Design quizzes or short assessments that assess candidates' understanding of the content they have read.

Candidates are advised not to copy entire paragraphs or sentences from the passage in their answers.

*K = Knowledge U = Understanding A = Application and other higher-order cognitive skills

Question No. 1b
Question Text	With reference to the information in Text A, identify whether the protagonist (author) is a round or flat character? Provide reasons to support your answer.
SLO No.	2.1.11
SLO Text	a. Identify basic genres in prose (tragedy, comedy, horror, science fiction); b. Discuss characters and relate to their motivations and purpose by classifying them (with evidences) as: i) protagonist or antagonist ii) round or flat characters; c. Discuss theme and sub-themes; d. Describe the structural elements of plot (beginning, rising action, climax, falling action, resolution) in a simple short story; e. Comprehend the relevance of setting (time, place, customs) to the overall meaning of a story; f. Comprehend explicit motifs and tone of the narrator.
Max Marks	3
Cognitive Level	U
Checking Hints	1 mark for correct identification 1 mark for each reason (2 required) Note: Award marks if the candidate has provided textual references from the text to support their answer.
Overall Performance	General observation suggests that the question was challenging for the candidates. On one hand, the candidates correctly identified the character trait of the protagonist, but some either showed a limited understanding of the character type or its associated traits or failed to provide reasons for the identification.
Description of Better Responses	In better responses, candidates identified the correct type of characterisation i.e., round character, providing aspects of author's character in terms of emotions, acts and development with contextual evidence in support of the answer.

Images of Better Responses	Example 01:  The protagonist in Text A is a round character as it has its own dimensions to it with a surge of emotions and feelings he was experiencing throughout the period of completing the assignment. His emotions are never constant and experiences a shift in them from exitement in paragraph 1 to disappointment to anxiousness to how his hardwork paid off. Another reason is how he didn't give up and lose focus and a transformation and character development is observed. Example 02:  According to my points, the author is the round character because the story is rotating around him. He also did hard wark and he is the positive character in the Text A. who didn't loose hope, prove his self-he work on his unability. At the first when calculator didn't wak. He got offended but he stand up again and asked his mistakes to sir and wak on it instead of looing hope.
Description of Weaker Responses	It was observed in weaker responses, that candidates wrongly identified the character type to be flat with reasoning that the author was stubborn. In some instances, the candidates identified the character to be flat but gave reasons that correspond to a round character. In other instances, the candidates identified the correct character type while providing a generic reason for its identification.
Images of Weaker Responses	 With reference to the information in Text A, I think the author is round because. 1) Her personality is confused, at first she is overexcited to open the program and try it out but after being failed she seems to be very stressed. 2) She felt demotivated at certain period of times other than this she was very anxious of asking from her teacher.

Maximising SLO Achievement	Preferred Pedagogy Used for this SLO	Assessment Strategies
• Identify the expectation of command words (use Command Word Guide) • Ensure the content is taught at the relevant cognitive level	• Story Board • Cause and Effect • Fish and Bone • Concept Mapping • Audio Visual Resources	• Past paper questions • Discussion on E-Marking Notes • AKU-EB Digital Learning Solution powered by Knowledge Platform https://akueb.knowledgeplatform.com/login

• Identify necessary content required (skills + concepts) • Review past paper questions on the concept • Utilise the resource guide for additional materials	• Think, Pair and Share • Knowledge Platform videos • Questioning Technique (Socratic approach) • Practical Demonstration

Any Additional Suggestion: The candidates should be made familiar with features of narrative writing such as characterisation, character development, types of plot, etc to develop an understanding of different types of narrative styles.

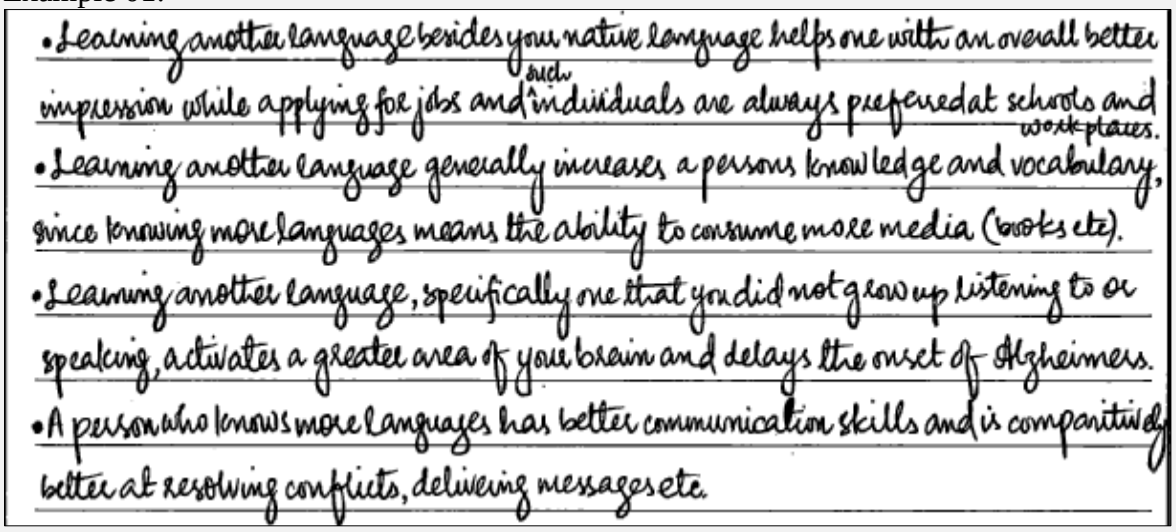

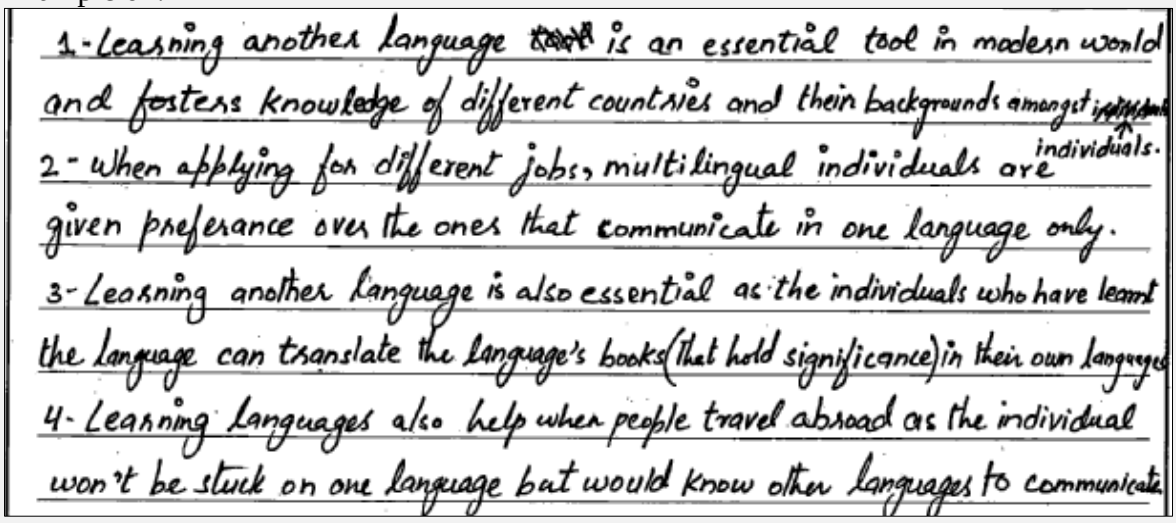

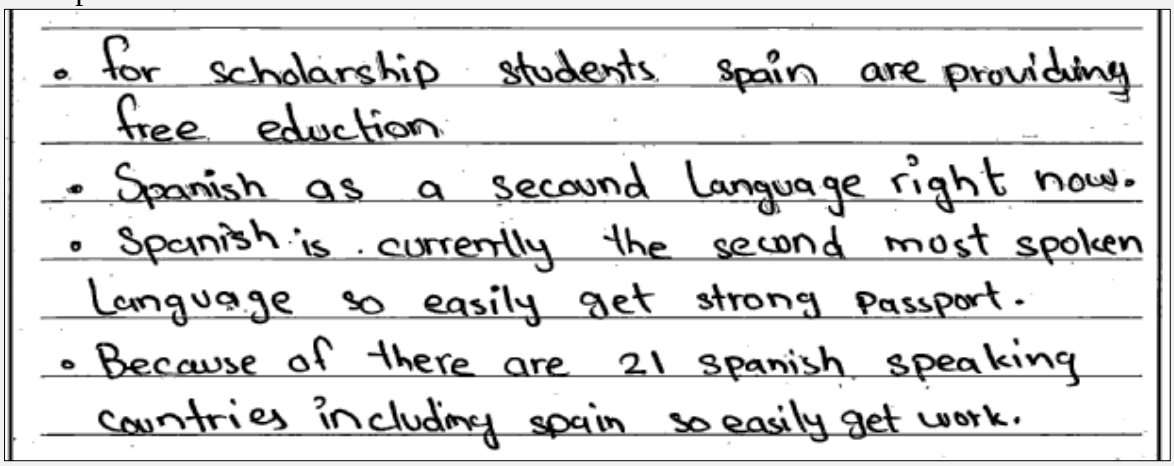

Question No. 1c
Question Text	Suppose you are the author of Text A. Which aspects of the text would you have elaborated upon? Give a reason for choosing each aspect.
SLO No.	2.1.3
SLO Text	Elaborate personal opinion about the text along with justification.
Max Marks	4
Cognitive Level	A
Checking Hints	1 mark for mentioning each aspect (2 required) 1 mark for giving one reason of each aspect (2 required)
Overall Performance	Candidates generally presented valid responses elaborating aspects that could be added to the text for further enhancement such as description of the teacher and mother, author's experiences in past or future, etc.
Description of Better Responses	In better responses, candidates elaborated on the teacher and mother's characters to highlight their significance in the author's life. Furthermore, candidates also gave reasoning for providing details about coding, aspects of author's future and past lives, interaction of the author with his friends and classmates. They opined that these aspects could have made the text more interesting for readers. In other instances, candidates emphasised on how they would use figurative language and cohesive devices in the text.

Images of Better Responses	Example 01:  If I were the author of text A, I would have elaborated upon the process of creating the code, as the author has not provided any vital details about the code, which could have been helpful for readers related to the field of computer sciences. Secondly, I would describe Mr. Mcginnis' character more as I was expecting more details about the teacher who was the reason, why the author chose his subject as his major. And why was the author anxious while seeking help from Mr Mcginnis. Example 02:  The two aspects I would have elaborated on are: 1) Emotions and feelings. The author, in my opinion, does not reflect enough on her feelings which gives the story a sort of bland look. It doesnot excite the audience, does not make them feel sorry or bad for the character. The author should have emphasized on the protagonist's disappointment, anxiousness and joy. 2) I would have added more similies and metaphors to provide a more descriptive look at the emergency and importance of the situation. Add a little bit of dramatics to make the story interesting.
Description of Weaker Responses	It was observed in weaker responses that the candidates provided points from the text to support their answers with redundant elaboration. In other instances, candidates presented two valid aspects that they might want to elaborate further in the text but did not provide reasons for identified aspects.
Image of Weaker Response	 The two aspects that I would elaborate would be not knowing what I was going to do after, and, secondaly to run something first time and try it out - I choosed the first aspect because to know what you are going to do after you have to run some program or activities you are interested in. For choosing the second aspect my reason would be to try out new thing and never give up.

Any Additional Suggestion:

Question No. 1d
Question Text	With reference to text B, infer any four benefits of learning another language.
SLO No.	2.1.14
SLO Text	Analyse and add relevant information from outside the text to the information of a narrative, expressive and/ or expository text.
Max Marks	4
Cognitive Level	U
Checking Hints	1 mark for each benefit (any 4 required)
Overall Performance	It was generally observed that the candidates were able to link their own understanding and prior knowledge to generate points for the benefits of learning a new language. Whereas, in weaker responses, candidates only provided limited or repeated valid points, in other instances redundant or incorrect information.
Description of Better Responses	In better responses, candidates provided diverse prospectives about acquiring a new language by presenting valid and appropriate points of language acquisition. The following aspects were mentioned: • Communication, • Education/ scholarship/ admission, trade/ business/ collaboration, • Information/ knowledge/ translation, • Awareness about culture/ traditions/ literature/ heritage associated with the learned or acquired language. In other instances of better responses, candidates provided inference from Text B to validate the responses.

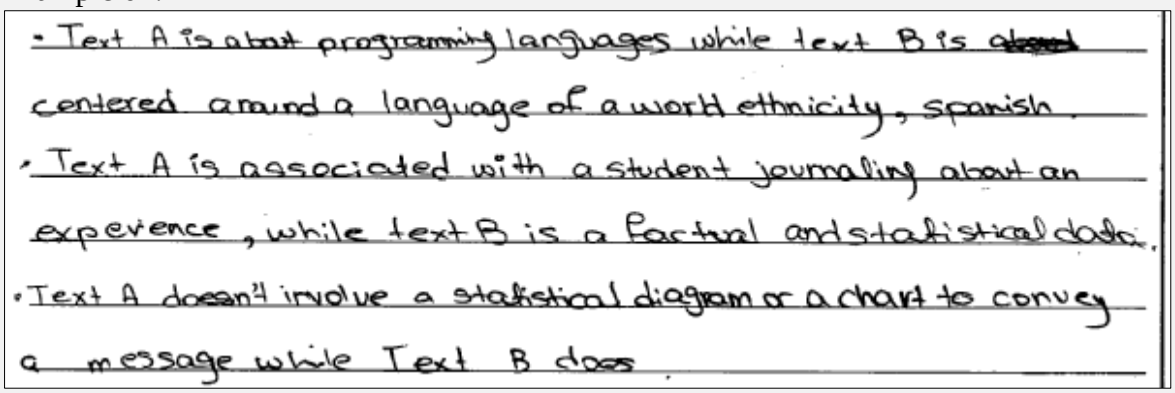

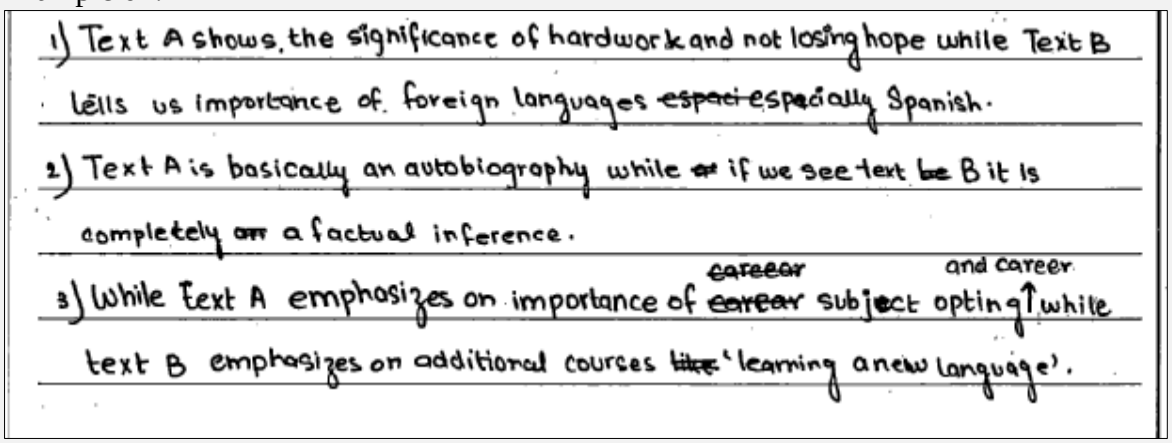

Images of Better Responses	Example 01:  • Learning another language besides your native language helps one with an overall better impression while applying for jobs and such individuals are always preferred at schools and work places. • Learning another language generally increases a persons knowledge and vocabulary, since knowing more languages means the ability to consume more media (books etc). • Learning another language, specifically one that you did not grow up listening to or speaking, activates a greater area of your brain and delays the onset of Alzheimers. • A person who knows more languages has better communication skills and is comparitively better at resolving conflicts, delivering messages etc. Example 02:  1- Learning another language ~~tool~~ is an essential tool in modern world and fosters knowledge of different countries and their backgrounds amongst individuals. 2- When applying for different jobs, multilingual individuals are given preferance over the ones that communicate in one language only. 3- Learning another language is also essential as the individuals who have learnt the language can translate the language's books (that hold significance) in their own language 4- Learning languages also help when people travel abroad as the individual won't be stuck on one language but would know other languages to communicate.
Description of Weaker Responses	In weaker responses, candidates provided invalid points or just one valid point that was repeated twice and thrice. In other instances, candidates added paraphrased information from the text rather than provide benefits of language acquisition.
Images of Weaker Responses	Example 01:  • for scholarship students spain are providing free eduction • Spanish as a secound Language right now. • Spanish is currently the second most spoken Language so easily get strong passport. • Because of there are 21 spanish speaking countries including spain so easily get work.

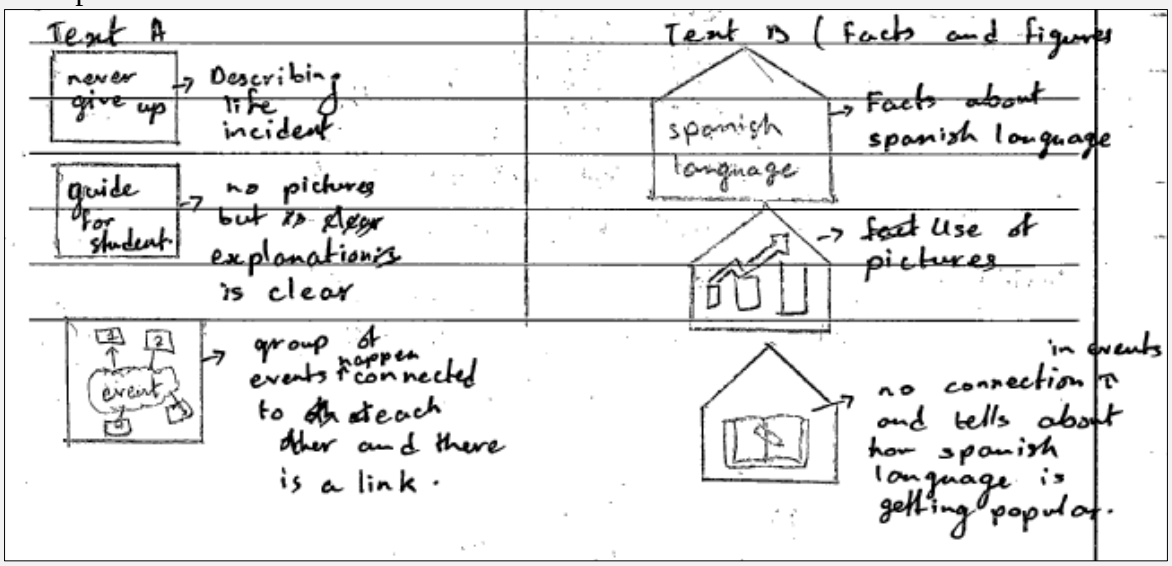

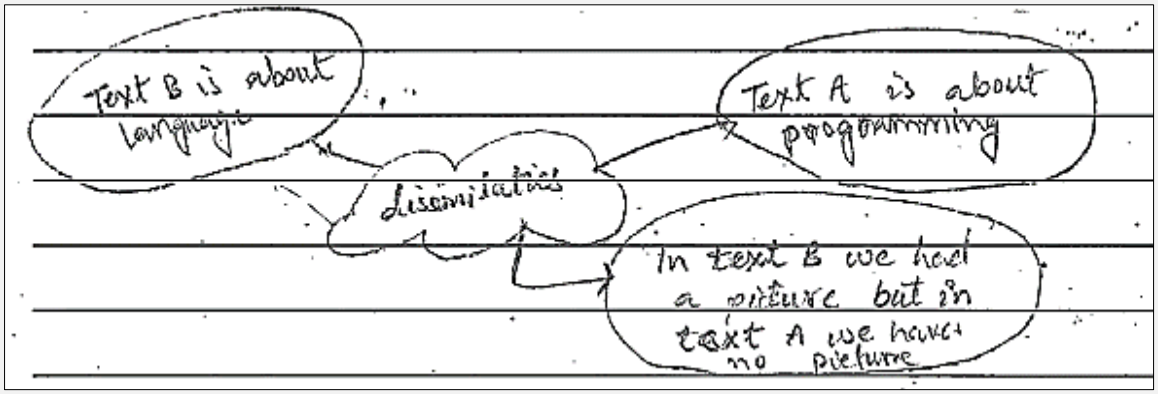

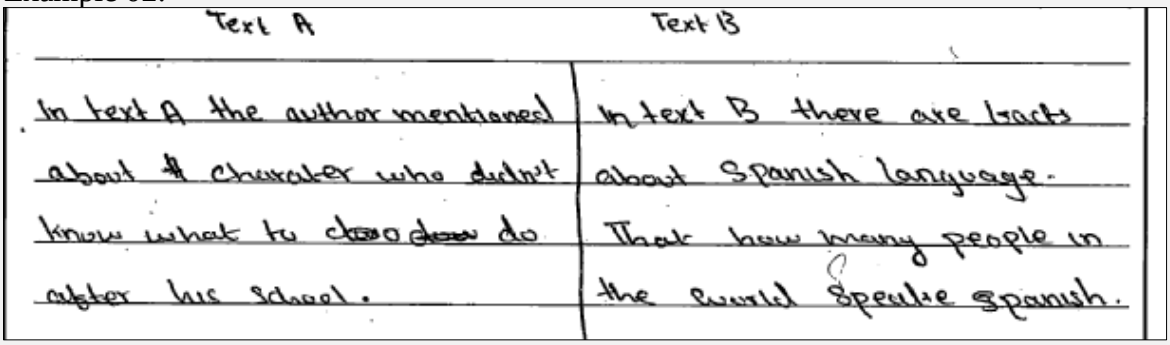

Example 02:

The Benefits of learning another languages are
1- It can help us to talk and understand the people of different Countries around the world
2- Learning another languages are very import in todays world
3- learning different language is help us to interact with different people freely.

Question No. 1e
Question Text	Draw any three dissimilarities between Text A and Text B.
SLO No.	2.1.4
SLO Text	Synthesise information (treatment, scope and organisation of ideas, common themes and/ or message) from two texts based on the same theme/ topic.
Max Marks	3
Cognitive Level	A
Checking Hints	1 mark for each dissimilarity (any 3 required) Note: Give marks if the candidate has mentioned the dissimilarities in the form of drawings/ doodling.
Overall Performance	It was generally witnessed that the candidates took the word 'draw' quite literary and presented doodles, venn diagrams and mind maps to present the dissimilarities of both texts. Where candidates drew the differences through pictorial illustrations, relevant marks were awarded, even though that was not the expectation.
Description of Better Responses	In better responses, candidates illustrated the dissimilarities of the two texts taking in consideration to the theme/ topic of both texts. These dissimilarities showed the aspects of learning a foreign language in Text B, juxtaposing it with Text A where the author was struggling with computer language. Other responses showed that where Text A was a personal experience, Text B factually represented data about the Spanish language. It was also observed that candidates drew the differences and were awarded marks accordingly.
Images of Better Responses	Example 01:  • Text A is about ~~programming~~ languages while text B is ~~about~~ centered around a language of a world ethnicity, spanish. • Text A is associated with a student journaling about an expevence, while text B is a factual and statistical data. • Text A doesn't involve a statistical diagram or a chart to convey a message while Text B does Example 02:  1) Text A shows the significance of hardwork and not losing hope while Text B tells us importance of foreign languages ~~espaci~~ especially Spanish. 2) Text A is basically an autobiography while ~~or~~ if we see text ~~be~~ B it is completely ~~an~~ a factual inference. 3) While Text A emphasizes on importance of ~~career~~ career subject opting and career ↑ while text B emphasizes on additional courses ~~like~~ 'learning a new language'.

	Example 03:
Description of Weaker Responses	In weaker responses, candidates only provided one valid point or no valid points. It was also observed that the responses only included points that were either repeated or incomplete. In other instances, candidates were not able to draw the dissimilarities by only writing points about either one text and repeating information from any one text.
Image of Weaker Responses	Example 01:  Example 02:  Text A In text A the author mentioned about a character who didn't know what to do after his school. Text B In text B there are facts about Spanish language. That how many people in the world speake spanish.

SLO Text	Use accurate: a. punctuation (full stops, commas, capitalisation); b. spelling; c. subject-verb agreement and tenses; d. sentence construction; e. conjunctions; f. adverbial and subjective clauses; g. conditional clauses; h. words/ phrases to indicate degrees of possibility using adverbs (e.g. perhaps, surely) and modal verbs (e.g. might, should, will, must).

Max Marks	10
Cognitive Level	A
Checking Hints	1 mark for each correct answer in the blank (10 required)
Overall Performance	Generally, the question was well attempted by the candidates, with some who were able to generate all correct answers for the cloze passage.
Description of Better Responses	In better responses, candidates provided all correct options for each blank by using appropriate linking words. Moreover, some responses showcased the candidates' grasp over grammatical concepts, and correctly utilising words contextually. Some examples are as follows: • includes, involves, supports, overviews, represents, and presents for blank (2), • initiate, plan, propose, design, consider, approve, execute, and introduce for blank (4), • Amid for blank (7).
Image of Better Response	Disaster management aims to reduce, (1) and avoid, the potential losses from hazards, assure prompt and appropriate assistance to victims of disaster, and achieve rapid and effective recovery. The disaster management cycle (2) is the ongoing process (3) in which governments, businesses, and civil society plan for and reduce the impact of disasters, react during and immediately following a disaster, and (4) take steps to recover after a disaster has occurred. Developmental considerations contribute to all aspects of the disaster management cycle. (5) one of the main goals of disaster management, and one of its strongest links with development, is the promotion of sustainable livelihoods and (6) The protection and recovery during disasters and emergencies. (7) After a disaster, humanitarian agencies are often called upon to deal with immediate response and recovery. (8) If the necessary preparations have not been made, the humanitarian agencies will not be able to meet the immediate needs of the people. As the emergency (9) is brought under control, the affected population is capable of undertaking a growing number of activities aimed at restoring their lives and the infrastructure that supports (10) it.
Description of Weaker Responses	Along with incorrect answers in weaker response, candidates were unable to consider the usage of correct spellings and capitalisation. In other instances, candidates used two options in a single blank or usage of symbols such as '&' in such responses was evident.

Images of Weaker Responses	Example 01:

Disaster management aims to reduce, (1) and avoid, the potential losses from hazards, assure prompt and appropriate assistance to victims of disaster, and achieve rapid and effective recovery. The disaster management cycle (2) recover the ongoing process (3) through which governments, businesses, and civil society plan for and reduce the impact of disasters, react during and immediately following a disaster, and (4) takes steps to recover after a disaster has occurred.

Developmental considerations contribute to all aspects of the disaster management cycle. (5) Most of the main goals of disaster management, and one of its strongest links with development, is the promotion of sustainable livelihoods and (6) their protection and recovery during disasters and emergencies.

(7) After a disaster, humanitarian agencies are often called upon to deal with immediate response and recovery. (8) Before the necessary preparations have not been made, the humanitarian agencies will not be able to meet the immediate needs of the people.

As the emergency (9) situation brought under control, the affected population is capable of undertaking a growing number of activities aimed at restoring their lives and the infrastructure that supports (10) them.

Example 02:

Disaster management aims to reduce, (1) Eg avoid, the potential losses from hazards, assure prompt and appropriate assistance to victims of disaster, and achieve rapid and effective recovery. The disaster management cycle (2) is the ongoing process (3) for for which governments, businesses, and civil society plan for and reduce the impact of disasters, react during and immediately following a disaster, and (4) follow steps to recover after a disaster has occurred.

Developmental considerations contribute to all aspects of the disaster management cycle. (5) Some of the main goals of disaster management, and one of its strongest links with development, is the promotion of sustainable livelihoods and (6) Population protection and recovery during disasters and emergencies.

(7) In a disaster, humanitarian agencies are often called upon to deal with immediate response and recovery. (8) Till the necessary preparations have not been made, the humanitarian agencies will not be able to meet the immediate needs of the people.

As the emergency (9) Situation is brought under control, the affected population is capable of undertaking a growing number of activities aimed at restoring their lives and the infrastructure that supports (10) damaged.

Encourage Regular Reading: Provide students with a variety of reading materials, such as books, articles, and stories, to expose them to correct grammar usage. Discuss sentence structures and grammar rules found in these texts.

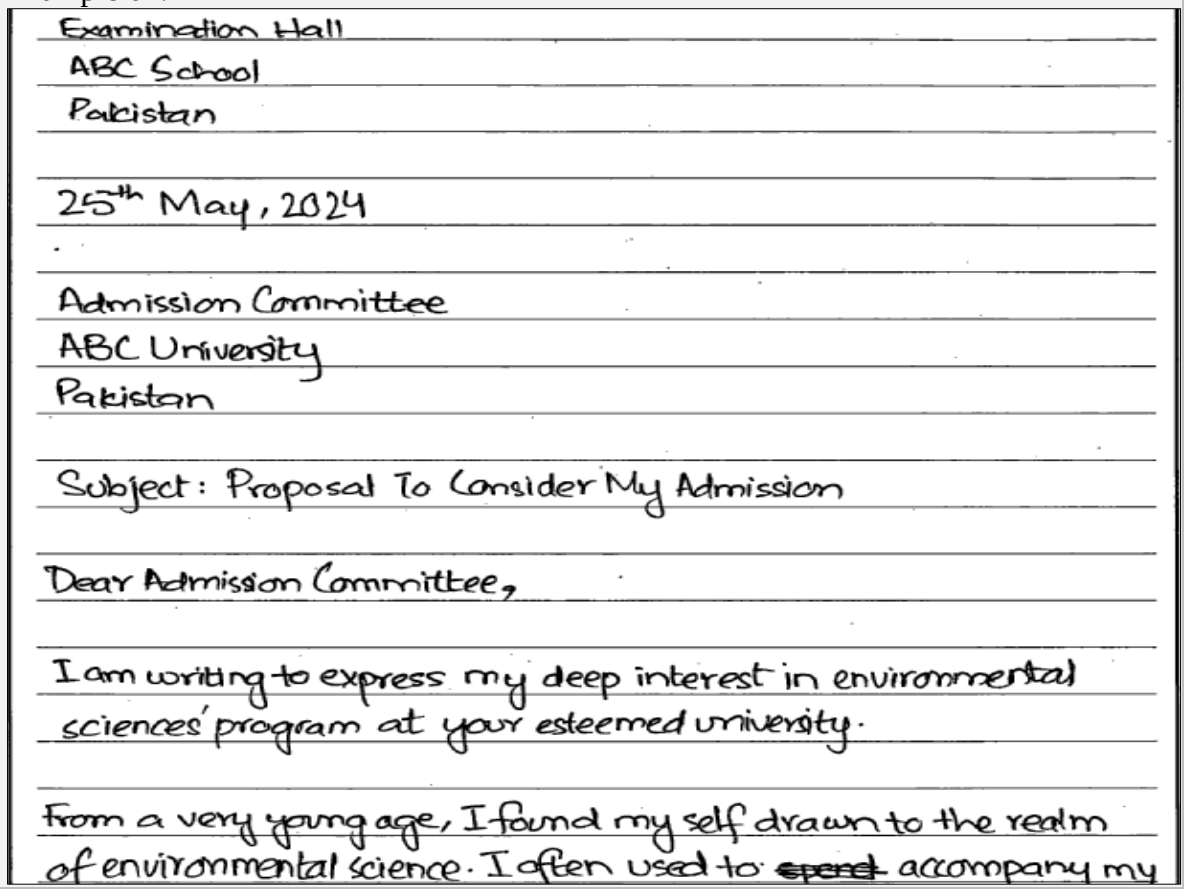

Promote Listening and Speaking Practice: Encourage students to listen to English through conversations, podcasts, or movies. Create classroom activities that allow them to practice speaking in grammatically correct sentences.

Extended Response Questions (ERQs)

Extended response questions offered a choice between parts 'a' and 'b' in Q.3; and between parts 'a', 'b', and 'c' in Q.4.

Question No. 3a
Question Text	Assume that you are applying for an undergraduate degree programme in environmental sciences at a university. Write a personal statement to the university's admission committee. In your statement, - mention a time when you become interested in the subject. - describe how the degree is in line with your future goals. - discuss any two skills that show you suitability for a career in environmental sciences.
SLO No.	3.1.3
SLO Text	Compose a personal statement for acquiring admission/ scholarships in universities by presenting: a. an organised summary of accomplishments; b. statement of goals and ambitions.
Max Marks	15
Cognitive Level	A
Checking Hints	Content Relevance: 5 marks 1 mark for the format personal statement (The personal statement can be in a letter or essay format) 1 mark for mentioning the time of interest 1 mark for describing the alignment of degree with future goals 1 mark for discussing each skill (2 required) Language Accuracy: 4 marks 1 mark for accuracy of spelling (at most three errors) 1 mark for the correct use of tenses (at most three errors) 1 mark for the agreement of subject and verb (at most three errors) 1 mark for placing punctuation marks appropriately: full stops, capital letters (where needed), commas and colon (at most three errors) Impression Marking: 06 Marks Good (5-6) • Ideas are clearly expressed in a wide range of effective and/or interesting language. Ideas are expressed in a logical sequence. • Content reflects appropriate vocabulary, informal tone and style to take into account the nature of relationship with, and the interests of, the recipient. • A variety of sentence structures is used, mostly with control, in all paragraphs. • A range of connectives (if, because, and, but etc.) and cohesive markers (nevertheless, moreover, and therefore etc.) are used to provide details and expand ideas. Average (3-4) • Ideas are expressed clearly but comparatively the expression is plain or there are redundant phrases. • Content reflects appropriate vocabulary, style and tone but usually the ideas are not well connected or the relationship with the recipient is not taken into account. • A variety of sentence structures is used with moderate accuracy / internal consistency.

	• Few connectives are used to provide details and expand ideas. Below Average (1-2) • Sentence structures and language are repetitive or unclear and there are various errors. • Content represents generalized, redundant or disconnected ideas. The style, tone and vocabulary are inappropriate. • Ideas are difficult to interpret because of flawed language. • No internal cohesion or consistency observed. Give 0 if the answer script is blank/ completely irrelevant / illegible.
Overall Performance	Overall observation shows that the candidates understood the nature of question and provided valid responses that presented ideas that were diverse and coherent showcasing candidates' enthusiasm, willingness towards studying the subject at the degree level as well as presenting their understanding of the essentialness of a personal statement in admission procedures. Most candidates chose to attempt this part.
Description of Better Responses	In better responses, candidates presented a well drafted personal statement that highlighted the candidate's enthusiasm and passion for the subject, exposure and experience, and skills required to study environmental studies. The responses mentioned critical thinking and exposure to the natural environment are crucial for understanding environmental sciences. Moreover, better responses also included aspects of the candidate's eligibility and passion, linking it with the potential benefit that the institute may gain when granting admission to the candidate. Usage of appropriate vocabulary and formal register were also observed. Even in better responses, candidates made grammatical errors including spelling and punctuation.

Subject: Proposal To Consider My Admission

Dear Admission Committee,

I am writing to express my deep interest in environmental sciences' program at your esteemed university.

From a very young age, I found my self drawn to the realm of environmental science. I often used to ~~spend~~ accompany my father at his small greenhouse and spend hours in watching him work. Overtime, I started helping him to water the plants and also experimented my own skills on planting the seeds. This early exposure instilled in me the desire to own ~~my~~ ~~gree~~ and manage my own green house someday. I wanted to contribute to Earth's environment. However, the world of Environmental Science was too more complex. I indeed require a proper understanding of the different environments and impacts, that is why I was particularly ~~be~~ drawn to the comprehensive curriculum at your University.

Moreover, I believe your University would be the best choice in continuing by studies as it aligns perfectly to my future goals in myriad significant ways. Firstly, your comprehensive curriculum largely targets the topics that I really want to work on. Secondly, your high reputation ~~and~~ among students in this field and the ~~dynamic~~ dynamic learning environment you provide to them to study as well as work on real-time projects really fulfills my requirements. ~~Secondly~~ Thirdly, your university places a strong emphasis on fostering diversity and collaboration. This would give me the chance to ~~be~~ communicate with my peers and exchange ideas to broaden my horizons.

Furthermore, I believe that ~~I'm to~~ I am best suited for this program as my academic background and work experiences have already equipped me with necessary skills and qualifications. Throughout my academic journey, I consistently excelled in subjects like Pak Studies, Chemistry, and Biology. One of the highlights of my academic career is the award of "Student Of The Year" which I recieved last year. Secondly, I actively engaged in extracurricular activities from participating in gardening and chemistry labs to recieving environmental workshops. Thirdly, I have been engaged in writing environmental articles online (for two years) as well. Throughout my experiences I have equipped with a unique perspective and a proper understanding of ~~Environ~~ Environmental Science ~~I have honed my~~ which demonstrates my passion and dedication. I have also honed my leadership and ~~skills~~ communication skills through participating in few environmental awareness volenteer programs which definately make a valuable addition to your program.

In last, I am very excited about joining your university. I am confident that my academic credentials sprinkled with the passion, dedication, and a love for environment make me a potential canditate for your program. I look forward to embark on this transformative journey with you and realize my dreams of becoming a environmental scientist.

Thankyou for your time and consideration.

Yours Faithfully,

Dramaqueen.

A constant passion and enthusiasm for learning about the intricate interconnectivity between environment, science and the lives of people, has been a part of my being since the dawn of my youth. The threshold of my journey has occured to be a disaster, a flood. That obnibulated my childhood home. These weary and miserable moments ingrained a passion and commitment in the little, exuberant me. A passion for learning about our splendid mother nature, and implying the aequired knowledge to foster a better, safe and more exquisite environment. And today as I stand here on the crossroads of my academic journey, I see my destination and career goals in the feild of environmental sciences.

As an audacious, consistent, hardworking and committed individual I have always thrived in environments and platforms that have enabled me to sculpture my abilities and skills such as communication, leadership, teamwork etc. And over years I have successfully groomed and impeccably groomed them. As they will help me on my to reach my ultimate goal of becoming an environmental scientist and researcher who will work for making a positive impact on the world around. And I see your university as a beakon of light for my career ahead, as it offers an environment where my passion is respected and can be groomed further.

My journey uptil now is an ultimate canvas of experiences. I have attended as well as conducted many many environmental camps in and also outside my home town. One of the most productive and prestigious camp where I served as a facilitator was "The International Camp on Environmental Sciences". Where many competant people around the world gathered and acquired a lot of significant information about the rapid changes in environment and the steps we can take to preserve it. I was honored with the title of most active member. This is a testament of my abilities. Furthermore, I have also used my love for books as an anchor to foster my knowledge in this journey. It has ~~impeccably~~ magnificently increased my knowledge and also passion for this subject.

Additionally, I am an individual who finds her solace and haven amid the tapestry of mother nature, therefore, I have always been pragmatically engaged with the environment, constantly learning and relearning about every bit of it. My academic record is also brilliant alongside these extra-curricular activities. I have always been the top student of my class and have always excelled in all subjects particularly the science subjects. I have been honored with many awards and certificates in both academic and cocurricular feilds.

My skills such as being logical, hardworking, and engaging and resilient makes me a perfect individual to thrive in the subject of enviromenal sciences and make a career that would enlight the future of my community. And enable me to be a changemaker.

I am eager to be a part of your institute with ~~those~~ my profound experiences, abilities, skills and passion.

Description of Weaker Responses	In weaker responses, candidates were not able to fulfil the criteria in terms of content: mentioning interest in the degree programmes, exposure and skills relevant for studying the subject and academic goals. It was also observed that the responses only mentioned the candidates' track record at school. "Imagine how big you could dream if you knew you couldn't fail. This is your last chance prove yourself my brave girl" my father's voice echoed in my ~~empty~~ brain as I approached the drop zone. I knew at this point there was no going back. I've always had acrophobia, the fear that comes with heights. I suffered from it since I was a little girl and never have I ever tried to overcome it. Recently I discussed it with my father. My father is a dedicated, strong willed person and he thought that I would overcome ~~the~~ my crippling fear of heights if I joined the parachute club at a summer activities centre.

I resisted at first but then gave in the application after my father explained to me how important it is to overcome certain fears in life. Little did he know I wasn't brave, dedicated and strong willed like him.

Not only about how my ~~bea~~ skinny legs would go shaky and my red hair looked funny while the wind carried them away, but also when I was out ~~of~~ breadth every time I ~~app~~ approached the drop zone. Today was the day I would prove to them I thought, but started to feel dizzy and out of breadth again. I looked at my father's ~~long~~ tall steady figure as the ~~glanced~~ ~~instructor~~. instructor stroked my red hair and reassured me that I could do it. I nodded and without giving it a second thought approached the drop zone and jumped.

Soon I was ~~re~~ awarded with the 'best parachute jumper award' and glanced at the sad, gloomy faces of Maya and her fellow peers. My father came running to me with excitement, ~~with~~ filled ~~in~~ his ~~eye~~ shiny brown eyes filled with tears.

I could tell that he was really ~~proo~~ proud ~~of~~ of me. "Preserverance always pays off my child." he wispered in my ear as ~~I hugged~~ we both hugged.

Description of Weaker Responses	In weaker responses, candidates did not include the given line in the question and were observed to show weak storytelling that either missed the conflict or its resolution. The responses also reflected poor sequencing of events, redundant phrasing or incorrect sentence structures, and limited or weak connectives or vocabulary. In some instances, the candidates had copied Text A as a response to the essay prompt.

I knew that at this point, there was no going back and soon we were surrounded by canables on an unknown Island, One of them come closer to me and tied a cloth on my eyes after that I don't ~~know~~ knew that where they took me. Suddenly they remove the cloth and I was present in their colony and the way they were dancing and cheering I get to know that today they are going to cook me.

Furthermore, there was a big fatty man wearing clothes of grass came towards me, removed my Jacket and start taking readings and size of my muscles, at that day I lost my hope for living as there was no chance for me to escape but then I was kept in a room with another person who was not a canable we both start talking and then he motivated me to escape from this Island.

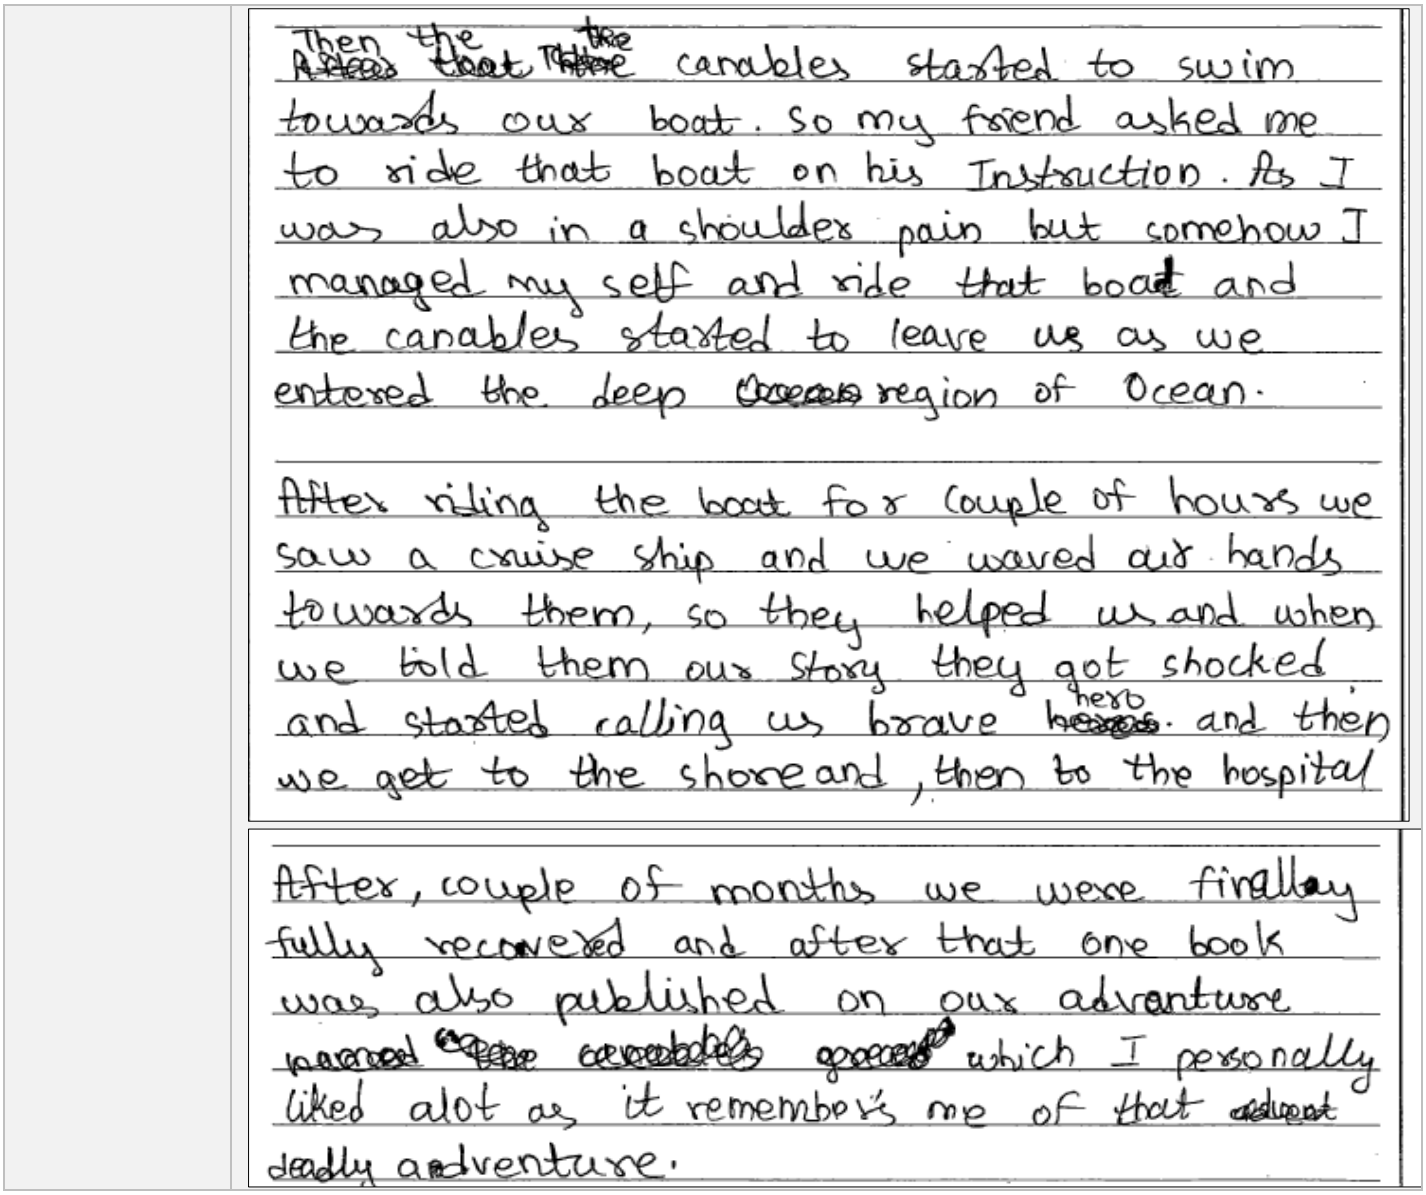

Moreover, he told me that he had a knife in his leg pocket, we somehow managed to take out the knife and cut the ropes which were tied on our hands and legs, then we stand up and see the outer area through a small hole in the door of room. We waited there for the perfect time. Then at evening time we saw that many canables have moved in their homes for resting. So we silently opened the door and tried to escape that colony.

Suddenly a canable saw us and he started shouting and called his fellows. We started to run from them, but our speed was very slow as compared to them as they were used to of that place. Suddely I fell down and was badly hurt on my shoulder but somehow I managed to run

After some time of runing we finally saw our boat, we rushed towards our board and my friend started it, but the rope was hanged on the shore I fastly moved and hanged on the shore I fastly moved and opened that rope and rushed back to the ~~shore~~ boat and then the canables targeted our boat's by arrows and sadly one of the arrow hit my friend's leg.

Then the boat the canables started to swim towards our boat. So my friend asked me to ride that boat on his Instruction. As I was also in a shoulder pain but somehow I managed my self and ride that boat and the canables started to leave us as we entered the deep region of Ocean.

After riding the boat for couple of hours we saw a cruise ship and we waved our hands towards them, so they helped us and when we told them our story they got shocked and started calling us brave hero. and then we get to the shore and, then to the hospital

After, couple of months we were finallay fully recovered and after that one book was also published on our adventure which I personally liked alot as it remembers me of that deadly adventure.

Images of Better Responses	Example 01:

Nothing can be more appealing and soothing to one's eyes and heart more than a place where there is only a pleasant vibe in the atmosphere created by disciplined arrangement, smiles elating the faces and the people who see the world through the eyes of heart. I recently attended an event where I got to deem all of this. The event was held in the honour of those hardworkers who work day in day out behind the curtains, the one and only 'educators'.

I was pretty excited for it as it was my first experience. As I am an introvert who prefer to stay out of spotlight, I looked for a seat at the back so that I could enjoy the whole scenario with the vibe of my own. It was smooth until proffessor lee asked me to appear on stage. I was wondering what it would be for. She welcomed me at the main table and pulled a seat for me. We brown s always spent our lives behind the superiors and find it rude when someone higher in rank shows respect and puts us first. " I invited you here as the guest speaker, I hope you ~~would~~ will enlighten the aura this time too ". This was the moment when I got goosebumps, sweats started dripping off me, my beat got racing as it was running in a marathon. I could hardly breathe. I hardly gulped and weird scenarios started sliding over my mind. However, I felt myself one of those who are born with great fortunes. How many of us hide an ocean of words behind our tongue until we take it to the grave, but no, life gave me a chance.

I was muffled with thoughts when a sound of loud applause hit my ears. As I got infront of dice, I considered myself the voice of all those innocent children who do labour at the age when they are supposed to play, the voice of those who constantly get tormented regarding their results and grades, the voice of those who are not willing to complain for their damaged mental health and ask for help. I intended to be the voice of everyone.

What my speech sp comprised of was that how many among us know the true meaning of education, how many of us seeks into the depth of it. What is our identity, what actually defines us, 'A degree' that is been generally thought to define one. Grades, marks, a higher rank in class, is that what truly matters ? no!. Today, the world is swirling around the concept of race. Students think of each other as a competitor. In this time we educators are the only one who can save our generation from drowning into the deep ocean of low self esteem, we are the only one to release them from the cages of anxiety, stress, depression, overwhelming burden of expectations and self judgement. Education is never the knowledge of sciences or other subjects, rather it is the humanity, it is the learning of doing sacrifices, it is the knowledge of being helpful to others, to give yourself a birth and incorporate the ~~genes~~ traits a human is supposed to have. We must not confuse education as a piece of degree. If today, we take our young generation in trust, there would be no need to worry about tomorrow. "Let's be the true educators!", that was my last statement from the speech, upon which the crowd stood up from seats and in a split of second and gave a loud appreciable applause that put me at the cloud ninth. Afterwards, I had a refreshment with my seniors and they appreciated me for making the night of educators the night of students too. We spent a quality time, had conversation on the ideas and plans for upcoming years, celebrated each other's accomplishments and concluded the event with a memorable short movie.

~~I cannot forget this day~~. This day always strikes my head when ever I hear the word 'event', as I stated earlier how could it be more beautiful when I had people who could see from the eyes of heart.

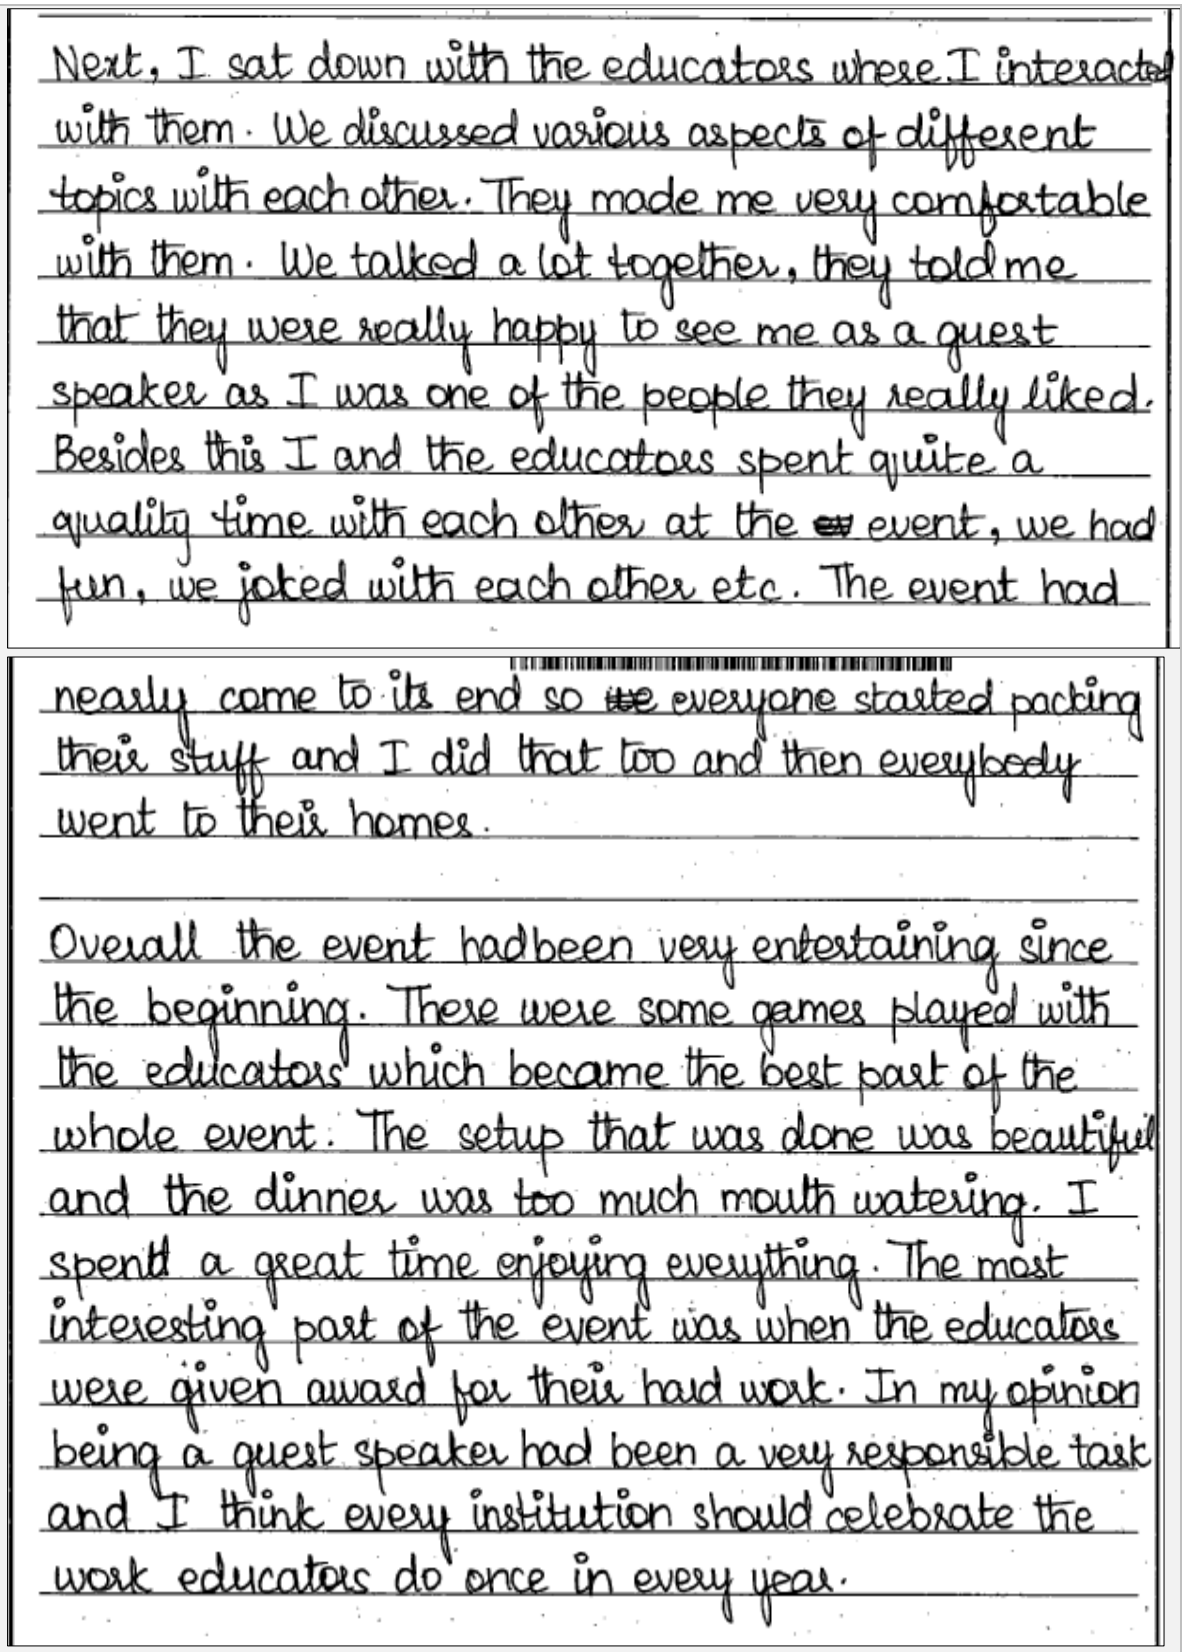

Example 02:

Option b

It wasn't long ago when I was invited to an event that was celebrating the outstanding work done by the educators. Before the event took place I got an invitation from the institution stating that they were inviting me as a guest speaker to their respective institution. I had never in my life become a guest speaker at any events before so the invitation actually confused me and I kept believing that it was not for me. I emailed to the institution just to confirm if it was really for me.

After two days I recieved a confirmation email by that institution. The next moment I was in complete shock, I could not understand how to react. There was a great big and a tickling movement in my stomach which was out of nervousness. Moreover I was ~~quiet~~ quite excited after seeing it, it made me a lot happy and emotional at the same time. I started imaging myself in that event appreciating the educators through a speech and also ~~people~~ audience appreciating me back with a loud of applause. Furthermore it pressurized me a little as I was the guest speaker and I had to prepare a long yet a very precise speech and I had to do it in very less time.

I started writing my speech, I sat down on my ~~table~~ desk wondering where to start from and also gathering ideas in my head. I started writing first by introducing myself to the people, then I thanked all the people one by one who had invited me as a guest speaker. Secondly I praised the educators for their hard work, they were the amazing people who did researches for their students, who made sure to try different methods of teaching and who guided and help the students. Thirdly I appreciated all the students who cooperated with their educators and Lastly I again thanked people for inviting me ~~and~~ to this wonderful event which I enjoyed a lot, I was quite honoured to be a guest speaker there. I ended my speech with those words.

Next, I sat down with the educators where I interacted with them. We discussed various aspects of different topics with each other. They made me very comfortable with them. We talked a lot together, they told me that they were really happy to see me as a guest speaker as I was one of the people they really liked. Besides this I and the educators spent quite a quality time with each other at the ~~ev~~ event, we had fun, we joked with each other etc. The event had nearly come to its end so ~~we~~ everyone started packing their stuff and I did that too and then everybody went to their homes.

Overall the event hadbeen very entertaining since the beginning. There were some games played with the educators which became the best part of the whole event. The setup that was done was beautiful and the dinner was too much mouth watering. I spentt a great time enjoying everything. The most interesting part of the event was when the educators were given award for their hard work. In my opinion being a guest speaker had been a very responsible task and I think every institution should celebrate the work educators do once in every year.

Description of Weaker Responses	Weaker responses did not take into consideration the elaboration of the contents of the speech, neither were the emotions properly expressed i.e., what they might have experienced. Some missed including the interaction with the audience (candidates or and educators) their overall experience.

Example 01:

A great evening in an educators event. It was an honour and to be honest I was amazed that I was invited in that program and even suprisingly I was the guest speaker which kind off makes me nervous.

It was an event which was held by the kids who did an excellent job of collecting donation for paralyzed people and to make sure that they are happy and not suicidal about the ~~thing~~ paralyzed thing. I was amazed that how they do it so I did some research and finds out that they organized a drama which includes characters like a father who is paralyzed and a son which is only 6 years old and have nothing to save due to inflation. It creates awareness.

So I did made a ~~wonderful~~ wonderful speech about it. and appreciate them. It was great talking with them and I felt special that I was invited to speak. Inshort it was fantastic from the beginning to the last moment of the event.

later on as the event passes by. I met the kids that did this wonderful and outstanding job. They gave me a bouquet and a letter for thanking to coming into the event. I appreciated them and decided to publish an article for them so the people should know about this outstanding job these kids had done. Anyways I hope that many other kids like them should do such events and celebrate the positiveness among others.

At last, In my opinion the event was 10 out of 10. and I appreciated every moment of the event and I will make sure that people should know what they had done and what is the social work people should do for other people and to motivate and enhance their boost and make sure they're okay like according to mental health and physically too.

Example 02:

Option B

At home I was sitting and using the laptop after 5 to 10 mins I receive a email ~~about~~ that came from my ~~native~~ university the email is that they selected me for a guest speaker ~~to~~ for the celebrating the outstanding work done by educators. I am so happy that they selected me for appreciate their work I can't control my happiness after some times I get nervous that how can I speak at stage ~~when~~ because when I went to stage my body get vibrate I hope that I can't get nervous at stage.

well on guest speaker day ~~my~~ all speaches done now my turn came & I am so nervous but finally I went and appriciate to educators for their works that they do good work and ~~best~~ all they efforts to their work so that's why their work is gets so much appriciates and my speech is done then we ~~give~~ gave ~~to~~ them their hand work gifts and my interaction with the educators is nice they are very calm they made us comfortable to talk with them.

& My impression is good because their face features tell that they happy with me & I don't do embarassed my university the next day my proferrors appreciate me for my speech and confidence to meet them so nicely and talk like that I am not nervous to seen them well all of this fonction is went good.

Question No. 4c
Question Text	Leadership is described as 'a set of behaviors used to help people align their collective direction, to execute strategic plans, and continue renew an organization'. There are many types of leadership. One type of leadership is autocratic (tight control over people), another is democratic (people are welcomed to share ideas), and there are many others. Write an essay on the type of leadership that is best suited in today's globalised world. In your essay, - describe the type of leadership suited for the world today. - describe TWO personality traits and/ or skills that make good leader as per the selected leadership type. - discuss ONE example from the real life or a fictional character who reflect the selected leadership type.
SLO No.	3.1.10
SLO Text	a. Use a variety of structures to compose information: comparison and contrast, sequencing, cause and effect, problem and solution; b. Synthesise relevant information and discuss its pros and cons; c. Establish coherence within and among paragraphs through effective transitional and connective devices.
Max Marks	18
Cognitive Level	A
Checking Hints	Content Relevance: 5 marks 1 mark for describing the type of leadership 1 mark for describing each personality trait and/ or skills (2 required) 2 marks for discussing the example (1 mark for mentioning the example by name only) Language Accuracy: 4 marks 1 mark for accuracy of spelling (at most three errors) 1 mark for the correct use of tenses (at most three errors) 1 mark for the agreement of subject and verb (at most three errors) 1 mark for placing punctuation marks appropriately: full stops, capital letters (where needed), commas and colon (at most three errors) Impression Marking: 09 Marks Good (7-9) • Ideas are clearly expressed in a wide range of effective and/or interesting language. Ideas are expressed in a logical sequence. • Content reflects appropriate vocabulary, informal tone and style to take into account the nature of relationship with, and the interests of, the recipient. • A variety of sentence structures is used, mostly with control, in all paragraphs. • A range of connectives (if, because, and, but etc.) and cohesive markers (nevertheless, moreover, and therefore etc.) are used to provide details and expand ideas. Average (4-6) • Ideas are expressed clearly but comparatively the expression is plain or there are redundant phrases. • Content reflects appropriate vocabulary, style and tone but usually the ideas are not well connected or the relationship with the recipient is not taken into account.

	• A variety of sentence structures is used with moderate accuracy / internal consistency. • Few connectives are used to provide details and expand ideas. Below Average (1-3) • Sentence structures and language are repetitive or unclear and there are various errors. • Content represents generalized, redundant or disconnected ideas. The style, tone and vocabulary are inappropriate. • Ideas are difficult to interpret because of flawed language. • No internal cohesion or consistency observed. Give 0 if the answer script is blank/ completely irrelevant / illegible.
Overall Performance	The overall responses showcased candidates' understanding of the term and types of leaderships and preference of type of leadership required today. It was generally observed that the candidates were able to present complete inference of the traits that are generally or specifically linked to autocratic or democratic leadership. It was further observed that the candidates were able be to provide examples from real-life or fiction that aligned with either type of leadership discussed.
Description of Better Responses	Candidates with better responses were able to present valid elaboration for the concept of leadership along with the type of leadership that is appropriate for today's world. It was also observed that many/ some candidates combined autocratic and democratic leadership arguing it to be essential for stability and development of a nation/ country/ system. Candidates also presented examples of real people who possessed the traits required for effective leadership as well as fictional personalities/ leaders that align with chosen leadership. The overall structure of better responses also reflected strong cohesion to link ideas through jargons related to political concepts and systems, and used connectives for sequencing ideas and arguments in their essays.

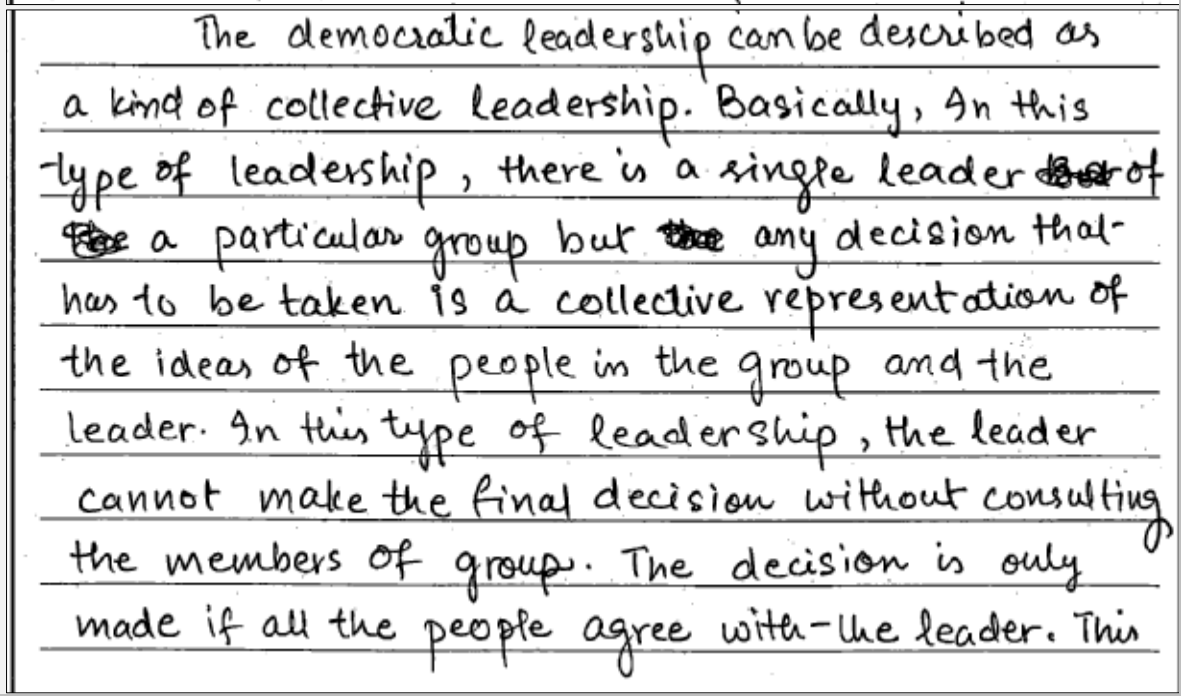

Images of Better Responses

Example 01:

Leadership is a quality that can be described as "a set of behaviors used to help people allign their collective direction, to execute strategic plans, and to continually renew an organisation." According to this definition leadership is very much important for carrying out a work or an activity properly by a group of people. There should be a leader, who would make the group, work properly and derive the correct outcomes from the task they are performing.

There are many types of leadership, but in this time, where the world had become a global village, there is only one kind of Leadership successful and that is "democratic leadership".

The democratic leadership can be described as a kind of collective leadership. Basically, in this type of leadership, there is a single leader of a particular group but any decision that has to be taken is a collective representation of the ideas of the people in the group and the leader. In this type of leadership, the leader cannot make the final decision without consulting the members of group. The decision is only made if all the people agree with the leader. This is because, in todays world everyone is well-educated and knows about his/her rights. If the leadership is not democratic, no any task will be carried out properly and there will be fights throughout the world leading to no unity and co-operation.

For the leadership to be democratic, there should be a proper leader elected who has the qualities that matches a democratic leader. The first and foremost quality, that the leader must posses is that he should be co-operative. He should value others opinion and be able to make a combined decision that pleases everyone under his leadership as well as benefits the completion of their respective task. Secondly, the leader should be responsible and should understand his or her duties properly and work tirelessly to execute them properly. The leader should also know the importance of unity and teamwork and should be able to execute such virtues in his leadership, as these will help him in being successful in his task.

The biggest example of democratic leadership is the leadership under the rule of Mughal Emperor Akbar. Akbar was the most succesful mughal leader as he believed in democratic leadership. He was a wise man who believed in teamwork and always valued others opinions. He always made decisions wisely, in accordance with the opinions and ideas of his ministers and public, that made him successful at a very young age. And this was the cause, that Mughal Empire was at its peak under the rule of Emperor Akbar.

Keeping the above example in view, I think democratic leadership is very important for prosperious society as it fuels unity and discards fights and unwanted activities.

Example 02:

Leadership is a term made by people who gave it a meaning. It is a concept ~~spread~~ that permeates ~~through~~ every corner of the world. It is an instinct imbedded in the human brain. ~~But, it~~ However, it is an instinct only few are given. And there are even fewer people who know how to use that instinct properly. The two main types of leadership, autocratic & democratic, are found all around the globe. Both of these types show either spectacular or terrible results depending on the country.

In today's globalised world, democratic leadership is best suited. It is the type of leadership in which people elect their representatives who stand up for the interests of the people who elected them. It is a system based on free speech and freedom of choice. The invention of the internet has given every person with a wi-fi connection a platform where they can share their thoughts and ideologies. Consequently, people have become more opinionated and critical about certain issues/affairs governing our world.

For this reason, a democratic state also gives people the right to choose who they want as their leader. A house, a community, a city, a nation cannot function without a guider who can align the people's goals and create a single, unified vision of a future worth fighting for.

A democratic system of government works for the betterment of the people. If any politican does not obey his duties and does corruption, he/she can be held accountable and stripped off their title in the court of law. Leaders are the ones who have the power to pass legislations and make amendments to the constitution. They establish laws that ensure a just society in which crimes and treachery is not tolerated. This subsequently keeps people in check and prevents them from abusing their right to free speech.

When it comes to the traits and skills a democratically leader should possess, here are two of them: 1) leaders should be optimistic & 2) they should be altruistic. Optimism means a hope for a better future. A leader is of no use if he/she thinks the future is bleak. They should be optimistic while also being pragmatic. As Gandhi said, "Hope for the best; prepare for the worst." This quote perfectly illustrates that a leader should not only believe that the future is better but also believe that in case any obstacle arises, their country is prepared to handle that calamity. Optimistic leaders have a progressive mindset. They don't want to keep things as they are, instead they want to make things better. Additionally, such leaders know that the path to progress is not smooth and there can be bumps along the way. But that does not stop them from moving forward. The future is the future because it is different from our present. If nothing changes, then what future are we waiting for? Secondly, altruism means selflessness. An altruistic leaders puts the needs of his/her people first. They don't become leaders for any personal gain. They do it from an instinct of wanting to help people.

Surprisingly, some of the best examples of leadership can be found in J.R.R Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings" series. Gandalf is an old wizard in the book who helps Frodo throughout the journey from Hobbiton to Mount Doom in order to destroy "The Ring of Power". Though, Gandalf could have kept the ring for himself and have become the most powerful in the Land of Middle Earth, he did not even touch the Ring and was adamant at destroying it. Compared to Saruman (who was also a wizard) who let his lust for power consume him and lead him to team up with Sauron (the maker of the Ring).

In conclusion, democratic leadership is the most plausible way to handle the world's population. While it is not completely infallible, it consistently proves to be the best way to govern our modern society.

Example 03:

Leadership is described as "set of behaviors used to help people align their collective direction, to execute strategic plans, and to continually renew an organisation". There are many types of leadership one is autocratic ~~and~~ (tight control over people) and other is democratic (people are welcomed to share their ideas).

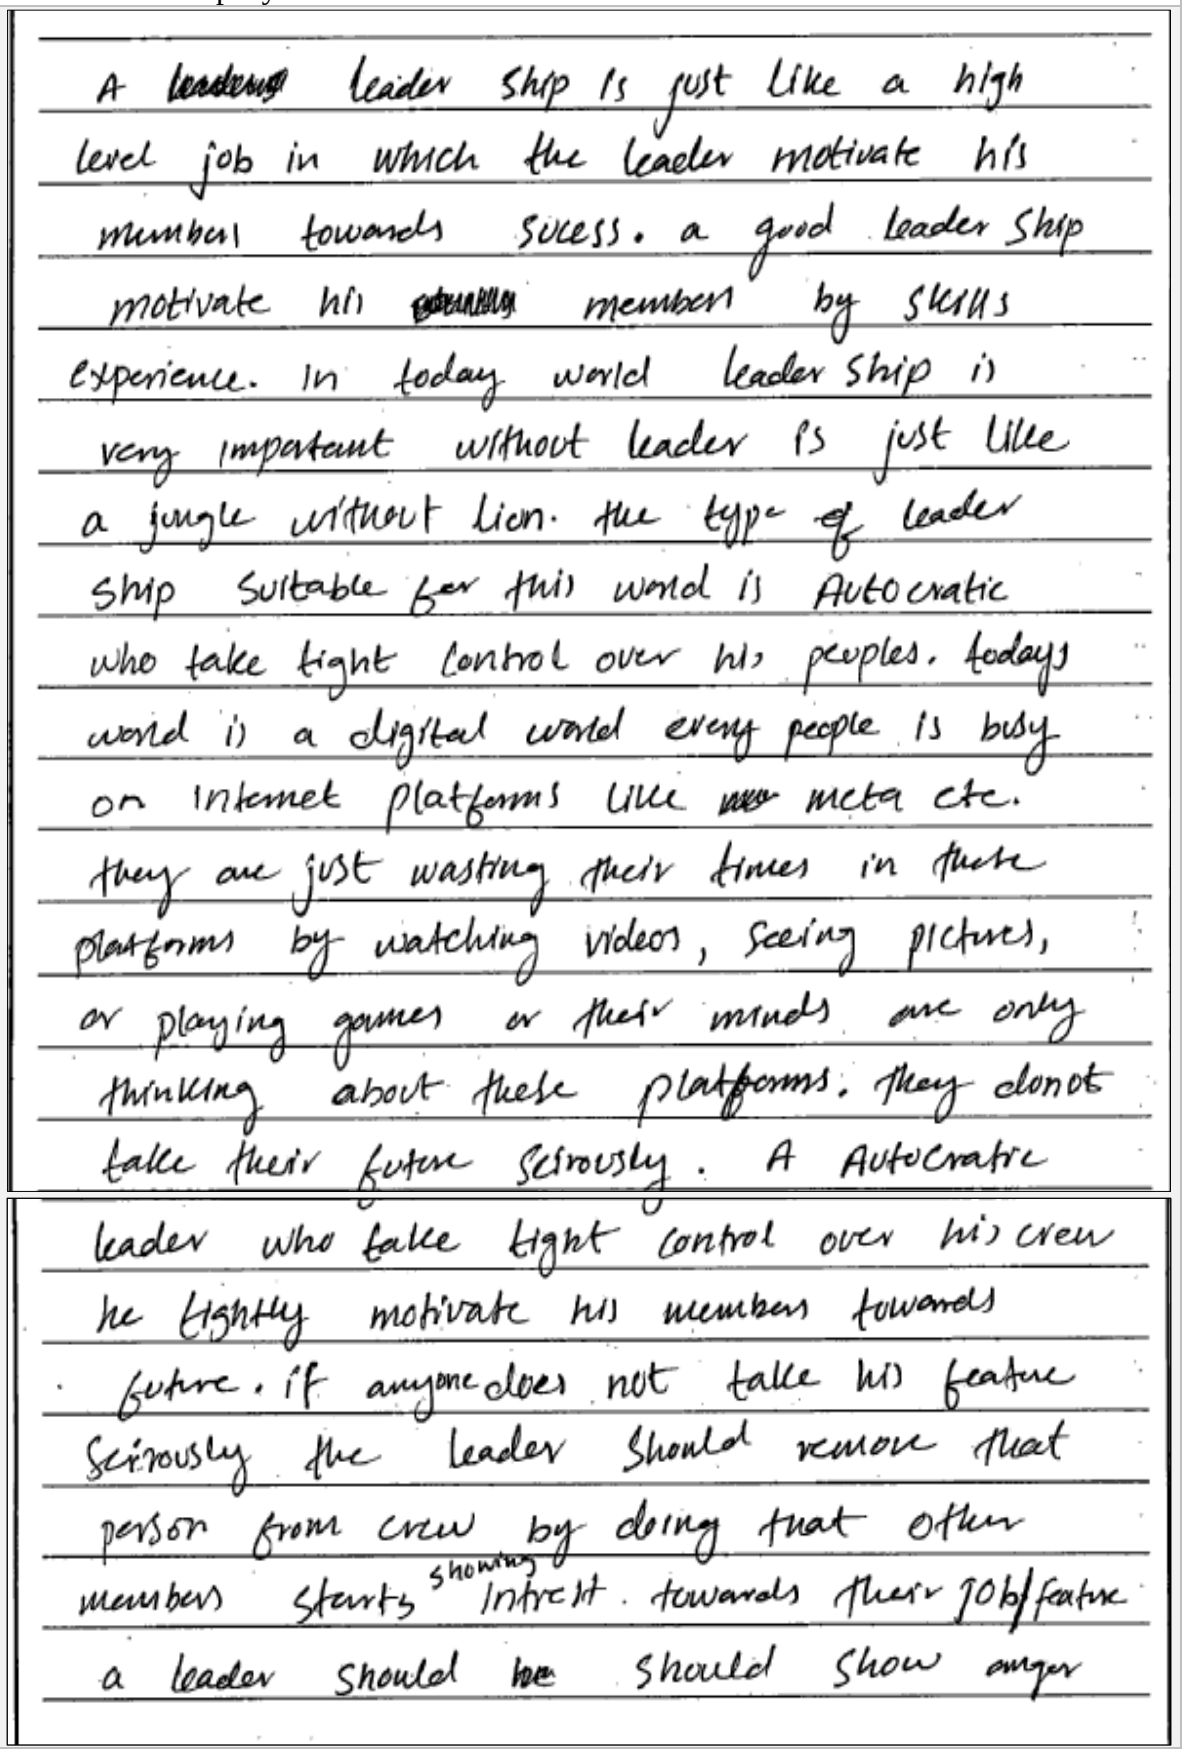

In this globalised world democratic leadership is best suited. The people have been modernized in this century either due to ~~gain~~ provision of education or due to other twenty first century tools such as internet, ethernet and phones, news etc. Every individual has a different mindset and every one has diffonent demands and ideas from their leaders or societies. So democratic leadership system is the only system to keep these modren minded people united by collecting their ideas and collectively take a decision after going through them keenly. This is the only type of leadership which omits chaos and drastic changes to the map of world.

In order to run a democratic system the leaders must be very clever and skillful. Firstly the leaders should be understanding so that they could understand opinions of people and then they should be clever enough to consider these ideas, appreciate people, and take a stance on the set of ideas and also posses good decision making skills or lawful decision makig skills to make decisians above any cast system- secondly, keen observers, realistic minded, well organised and brave leaders must take charge of democratic system as they have to face many challanges which are very difficult to be solved, so they must not be reactive to those situations or challanges; instead they must organisly or calmly respond to them-

In the global history there have been many exemplary democratic leaders such as Martin luther king, Aung san suu ki, Mau zi dong and Nelson Mandela who worked endlessly to initiate democracy and demolish autocracy so that people could get their rights freely- For example Nelson Mandela (one of the history changers) worked for the rights of black Americans who have been suppressed by white people. He did so many influ-encial speeches, arose rallies and strikes until he could achieve his aims- He has gone through jails, courts and other judicial punishments, no matter what kind of pain he has suffered from, he continued his aim confidently and his bravery never paid off.

In a nutshell, to run a lawful, happy, Independent and organised country the leadership must be democratic- Democracy is a right and bright step towards the prosperity of a country in this mechanised modren world.

Description of Weaker Responses	Weaker responses lacked the proper elaboration of the concept of leadership, traits of exemplified leadership or the preferable leadership for today's world; along with weak grammatical structure showcasing incorrect spelling impacting the overall tone and style. In other weaker responses, candidates presented invalid examples for the portrayal of the chosen leadership style.
Image of Weaker Response

A ~~leadership~~ leader ship is just like a high level job in which the leader motivate his member towards sucess. a good leader ship motivate his ~~member~~ members by skills experience. In today world leader ship is very impatant without leader is just like a jungle without lion. the type of leader ship suitable for this world is Autocratic who take tight control over his peoples. todays world is a digital world every people is busy on internet platforms like ~~meta~~ meta etc. they are just wasting their times in these platforms by watching videos, seeing pictures, or playing games or their minds are only thinking about these platforms. they donot take their future seriously. A Autocratic leader who take tight control over his crew he tightly motivate his members towards future. if anyone does not take his feature seriously the leader should remove that person from crew by doing that other members starts showing intrest towards their job/feature a leader should ~~be~~ should show anger on their member sometimes so member do not spread from the mission of their leader and crew. In today world the member do not take their leader seriously so leader should be strong or tight "the traits or skills that leader should have" the leader should have experience of leader ship before so he should motivate people by giving examples •) the leader should be strict or tight as it is mentioned.

•) the example of leader from real life is 'kim jong kong' per president of North Korea he was very strict to his people or he gave lesson to his people about upcoming feature or how to face the prep problems face seriously. he is the person who reflect leader ship type.

Annexure A: Pedagogies Used for Teaching the SLOs

Pedagogy: Storyboard
Description: A visual pedagogy that uses a series of illustrated panels to present a narrative, encouraging creativity and critical thinking. It helps learners organize ideas, sequence events, and comprehend complex concepts through storytelling.
Example: In a Literature class, students are tasked with creating storyboards to visually retell a novel. They draw key scenes, write captions, and present their stories to the class, enhancing their reading comprehension and fostering their imagination.

Pedagogy: Cause and Effect
Description: This pedagogy explores the relationships between actions and consequences. By analyzing cause-and-effect relationships, learners develop a deeper understanding of how events are interconnected and how one action can lead to various outcomes.
Example: In a History class, students study the causes and effects of the Industrial Revolution. They research and discuss how technological advancements in manufacturing led to significant societal changes, such as urbanization and labor reform movements.

Pedagogy: Fish and Bone
Description: A method that breaks down complex topics into main ideas (the fish) and supporting details (the bones). This visual approach enhances comprehension by highlighting essential concepts and their relevant explanations.
Example: During a Biology class on human anatomy, the teacher uses the fish and bone technique to teach about the human skeletal system. Teacher presents the main components of the human skeleton (fish) and elaborates on each bone's structure and function (bones).

Pedagogy: Concept Mapping
Description: An effective way to visually represent relationships between ideas. Learners create diagrams connecting key concepts, aiding in understanding the overall structure of a subject and fostering retention.
Example: In a Psychology assignment, students use concept mapping to explore the various theories of personality. They interlink different theories, such as Freud's psychoanalysis, Jung's analytical psychology, and Bandura's social-cognitive theory, to see how they relate to each other.

Pedagogy: Audio Visual Resources
Description: Incorporating multimedia elements like videos, images, and audio into lessons. This approach caters to different learning styles, making educational content more engaging and memorable.
Example: In a General Science class, the teacher uses a documentary-style video to teach about the solar system. The video includes stunning visual animations of the planets, interviews with astronomers, and background music, enhancing students' interest and understanding of space.

Pedagogy: Think, Pair, and Share
Description: A collaborative learning technique where students ponder a question or problem individually, then discuss their thoughts in pairs or small groups before sharing with the entire class. It fosters active participation, communication skills, and diverse perspectives.
Example: In a Literature in English class, the teacher poses a thought-provoking question about a novel's moral dilemma. students first reflect individually, then pair up to exchange their opinions, and finally participate in a lively class discussion to explore different viewpoints.

Pedagogy: Questioning Technique (Socratic Approach)
Description: Based on Socratic dialogue, this method stimulates critical thinking by posing thought-provoking questions. It encourages learners to explore ideas, justify their reasoning, and discover knowledge through a process of inquiry.
Example: In an Ethics class, the instructor uses the Socratic approach to lead a discussion on the meaning of justice. By asking a series of probing questions, the students engage in a deeper exploration of ethical principles and societal values.

Pedagogy: Practical Demonstration
Description: A hands-on approach where learners observe real-life applications of theories or skills. Practical demonstrations enhance comprehension, skill acquisition, and problem-solving abilities by bridging theoretical concepts with real-world scenarios.
Example: In a Food and Nutrition class, the instructor demonstrates the proper technique for filleting a fish. students observe and then practice the skill themselves, learning the practical application of knife skills and culinary precision.

(Note: The examples provided in this annexure serve as illustrations of various pedagogies. It is important to understand that these pedagogies are versatile and can be applied across subjects in numerous ways. Feel free to adapt and explore these techniques creatively to enhance learning outcomes in your specific context.)
