AGA KHAN UNIVERSITY EXAMINATION BOARD

HIGHER SECONDARY SCHOOL CERTIFICATE

CLASS XII EXAMINATION

APRIL/ MAY 2017

English Compulsory Paper I

Time: 55 minutes Marks: 40

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Read each question carefully.
2. Answer the questions on the separate answer sheet provided. DO NOT write your answers on the question paper.
3. There are 100 answer numbers on the answer sheet. Use answer numbers 1 to 40 only.
4. In each question there are four choices A, B, C, D. Choose ONE. On the answer grid black out the circle for your choice with a pencil as shown below.

Candidate's Signature

5. If you want to change your answer, ERASE the first answer completely with a rubber, before blacking out a new circle.
6. DO NOT write anything in the answer grid. The computer only records what is in the circles.

Listening Comprehension Section

In this section, you will hear two passages. Each one will be played two times.

Listen carefully to the first passage and then read questions 1 to 10. You will have two minutes' reading time.

The passage will be played one more time. You can make notes on your question paper.

When the passage has finished, enter your answers on your separate answer sheet. You will have four minutes to record your answers.

Follow the instructions on the front page of Paper I to show which of the options, A, B, C or D, you have selected for each question.

Listening Passage I

This passage talks about the indigenous truck art of Pakistan.

Source: Adapted from The Elusive History and Politics of Pakistani Truck Art from The Daily DAWN and incorporates information from Arwa Damon's reporting on Pakistani Truck Art, CNN

Now listen to the passage.

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

Mark your responses to these questions on your multiple choice answer sheet.

1. At the beginning of her speech, the speaker says that Pakistani trucks are

   A. drab.
   B. brilliant.
   C. strange.
   D. surprising.

2. Which of the following represents the speaker's emotions MOST clearly?

   A. … the trucks here are like no other I have ever seen.
   B. Pakistan's 'truck art' is now quite a well-known phenomenon.
   C. So much has already been written and said about truck art.
   D. … it has been an home-grown art-form in South Asia.

3. Which word is NOT used by the speaker to appreciate truck art?

   A. Drab
   B. Unique
   C. Intricate
   D. Spectacular

4. According to the speaker, each truck represents the character of its driver because

   A. each truck has political slogans.
   B. trucks are painted better than trollies.
   C. each truck is painted in a different way.
   D. trucks are painted by professional artists.

5. Bruce Lee appeared on Pakistani trucks during

   A. 1980s.
   B. 1970s.
   C. after the 1980s.
   D. before the 1970s.

6. A distinguishing feature of Pakistani truck art is complex floral patterns and poetic calligraphy painted in

   A. subtle colours.
   B. loud colours.
   C. red and blue.
   D. tiny pieces of tape.

7. According to the speaker, which change occurred after the 1970s in truck art?

   A. Truck art became more popular in urban areas.
   B. Paintings of Sikh Gurus appeared on trucks.
   C. American tourists made truck art famous in the world.
   D. Paintings of Sufi saints appeared on trucks.

8. Which sentence depicts the beginning of truck art forms in the 1940s?

   A. Very little is said about the history of truck art.
   B. At first, birds and animals were painted on trucks.
   C. Bold colours and shades were used by the earliest truck painters.
   D. It was started by Sikh transporters who painted religious figures.

9. Which information is heard at the END?

   A. Sufis were portrayed on Pakistani trucks.
   B. Truck art is a unique form of art in the Pakistani context.
   C. Birds and animals are preferred on Pakistani truck art.
   D. Non-Pakistani artists began appearing on trucks in Pakistan.

10. The main purpose of the entire passage is to

    A. describe colours used in truck art.
    B. reveal the political motives behind truck art.
    C. explain why floral patterns are preferred in truck art.
    D. highlight the history of truck art in Pakistan.

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

Now, we will play the second passage. It will also be played two times.

Listen carefully to the first playing, and then read questions 11 to 20. You will have two minutes' reading time.

The passage will be played one more time. You can make notes on your question paper.

When the passage has finished, enter your answers on your separate answer sheet. You will have four minutes to record your answers.

Listening Passage II

In this passage, the speaker conveys why it is not absolutely essential for you to eat vegetables.

Source: Adapted from Don't Force Yourself to Eat Vegetables by The Guardian

Now listen to the passage.

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

Mark your responses to these questions on your multiple choice answer sheet.

11. The speaker begins the passage by

    A. introducing the benefits of eating vegetables.
    B. describing why she does not like vegetables.
    C. explaining how vegetables taste as compared to fruits.
    D. stating that some people do not like the taste of vegetables.

12. According to the speaker, we worry about eating healthy. The speaker thinks that this approach is

    A. irrational.
    B. adaptable.
    C. objective.
    D. superficial.

13. According to the speaker, we worry about eating healthy mainly due to

    A. social concerns.
    B. religious concerns.
    C. biological concerns.
    D. psychological concerns.

14. As per the speaker's description, the examples of 'convenience food' are

    A. snacks and chips.
    B. vegetables and fruits.
    C. vegetables and meat.
    D. coconut and sweet potato.

15. The example of Kitava tribe is given to highlight that

    A. eating vegetables is not good for health.
    B. essential nutrients can be taken from a non-vegetable diet.
    C. the isolation of this tribe is due to its dietary preferences.
    D. the tribe has unique and unhealthy eating habits.

16. The speaker says that 'greens are not a must-have'. Which information is given immediately after this?

    A. We can easily get the nutrition value of green vegetables from other food items.
    B. The reason for the Kitava tribe's health is eating green vegetables.
    C. Boycotting green vegetables can put social pressure on you.
    D. Your body is complex and adaptable.

17. The BEST nutritional choice, as per the given audio, is to eat

    A. different food items.
    B. a variety of green vegetables.
    C. in moderate quantity.
    D. adequate fruits and vegetables.

18. The main purpose of this passage is to

    A. give information about vegetarian diet.
    B. persuade the listeners to eat a variety of food.
    C. introduce the audience to a new diet.
    D. recommend a daily diet plan.

19. The speaker ends her speech by saying that

    A. eating green vegetables is healthy.
    B. it is not essential to eat any specific food.
    C. we should not feel any anxiety about food.
    D. food choices should always be personal.

20. Which advice can be inferred from this speech?

    A. We should never eat vegetables.
    B. Green vegetables are harmful for kids.
    C. It is not necessary to eat vegetables to stay healthy.
    D. Balanced diet is comprised of green vegetables.

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

Reading Comprehension Section

You have 30 minutes' time for this section. This section has two reading passages; each followed by 10 multiple choice questions. You are advised to spend approximately 15 minutes on each of the given passages.

Read the passage carefully and then answer the multiple choice questions which follow:

Reading Passage I

Gulliver's Travels is a classic tale in English Literature. It has several parts but the first one, in which the main character, Gulliver, is shipwrecked and washes ashore on an island where everyone is about six inches tall, is the most famous and the most widely read of his adventures. The people on the island are tiny in size and are initially afraid of Gulliver, who appears to be a giant due to his size. They tie him up, but in time they come to trust and like him. His size helps them gain military strength, but there are several misunderstandings too, such as their assumption that Gulliver is trying to drown them when actually he is only putting out a fire. It is not easy to see eye to eye with someone different.

Dwarves* also appear in several fairy tales. Real life, though, can be very different, especially in Pakistan where people with dwarfism* are seen as misfits deserving of ridicule and of being baited. For many such people here, the opportunities of life are few, leaving many of them dejected.

Ali Arsalan's family, including his father, all have dwarfism, though his mother does not. "My paternal grandfather never saw anything wrong with my father," he says. "He saw him as a human being first and my mother never complained about the match either."

Arsalan is 21 years old and has studied up to Intermediate Part-I. "Now, I am in two minds as to whether to complete my studies or just forget about them," he says. "What am I going to do with a degree anyway? I know of another person like me who has done his B Com, and he drives a rickshaw." Arsalan, who can break-dance, is known as Little Michael Jackson among his friends; he has performed on stage occasionally but complains that while the other performers receive thousands of rupees for their work, he only gets one or two thousand. "Also, all the roles given to me are the non-serious ones," he says. "We are only required to make the audience laugh."

Reminded of the beloved radio performer Munni Baji, also characterised by dwarfism and admired by all her listeners, especially children, he reflects sadly that times have changed since people used to be respected for their talent. "Today's children harass and mock us. They chase after us, throwing stones at us while making fun of how we run," says Arsalan. "Munni Baji was very lucky. Not everyone is so lucky. Besides, she too is dead and forgotten now."

The person all members of this community find most inspiring is the late former Chief Justice of Pakistan, Nasim Hasan Shah, who also enjoyed the longest tenure of serving as a judge in the subcontinent. He also served as chairman of the Pakistan Cricket Board. "He is the prime example of what we can do if given an opportunity," says Mohammad Rizwan, who has a Master's degree in Islamiyat but works at a call centre. Rizwan used to face problems in getting to work every day, so he has designed a small motorbike for himself. He says, "the government has reserved a two percent job quota for us but we are denied even that. We don't want to become a burden on society. We are capable people, who can work as well as any other person." Last month, on International Dwarfism Day (October 25th), the Little People of Pakistan — an organisation run by people with dwarfism for the welfare of their community — organised a press conference to highlight their problems.

Source: Adapted from A Problem of Perception by The Daily DAWN

Dwarves*: individuals who have dwarfism, i.e. very short height

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

Mark your responses to these questions on your multiple choice answer sheet.

21. Paragraph 1 starts with a reference to the famous tale, Gulliver's Travels. This reference has been given to support the idea that people tend to

    A. believe that size does not matter.
    B. be wary of those who are different.
    C. assure others with false promises.
    D. behave pleasantly with all individuals.

22. The words 'shipwrecked' and 'washes ashore' in paragraph 1 are used to explain how Gulliver

    A. left the island.
    B. lived on the island.
    C. reached the island.
    D. fought on the island.

23. The phrase 'to see eye to eye' (line 8) means seeing others

    A. with guilt.
    B. as equals.
    C. as superior.
    D. with confidence.

24. The word 'dejected' (line 12) means

    A. depressed.
    B. dignified.
    C. deserving.
    D. daring.

25. The example of Ali Arsalan's family is given in order to stress that it is important to treat individuals with dwarfism, or any other deformity, with

    A. respect and care.
    B. firmness and caution.
    C. suspicion and dignity.
    D. caution and commitment.

26. The purpose of paragraph 5 is to highlight that in olden days people used to be respected regardless of their

    A. attitude.
    B. education.
    C. appearance.
    D. profession.

27. Which TWO words have been used to highlight the bad behaviour of people in this passage?

    A. Harrass and mock
    B. Dead and forgotten
    C. Misfits and reserved
    D. Appreciated and complained

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

28. The example of former Chief Justice of Pakistan, Nasim Hasan Shah, has been MOST LIKELY given to emphasise that

    A. individuals with dwarfism should be educated.
    B. every individual should be treated with respect.
    C. education can help you even if you have limited resources.
    D. given the right opportunity any individual can achieve greatness.

29. The main purpose of the entire text is to

    A. narrate specific incidents from the lives of people with dwarfism.
    B. explain that all individuals should be provided with opportunities and respect.
    C. describe the lives and challenges of individuals who want quality education.
    D. highlight that the government has not done enough for the progress of education of the public.

30. "As highlighted from these examples, everyone should be conscious and aware of the problems faced by this community and should consider them worthy members of the society." The sentence can MOST LIKELY fit in and support

    A. paragraph 3.
    B. paragraph 4.
    C. paragraph 5.
    D. paragraph 6.

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

Now read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Reading Passage II

I am always amazed when I hear people saying that sport creates goodwill between the nations and that if only the common people of the world could meet one another at football or cricket, they would have no inclination to meet on the battlefield. Even if one didn't know from concrete examples (the 1936 Olympic Games, for instance) that international sporting contests lead to fuelling of hatred, one could deduce it from general principles.

Nearly all the sports practiced nowadays are competitive. You play to win, and the game has little meaning unless you do your utmost to win. On the village green, where you pick up sides and no feeling of local patriotism is involved, it is possible to play simply for the fun and exercise: but as soon as the question of prestige arises, as soon as you feel that you and some larger unit will be disgraced if you lose, the most savage combative instincts are aroused. Anyone who has played even in a school football match knows this. At the international level, sports frankly mimic warfare. But the significant thing is not the behaviour of the players but the attitude of the spectators: and, behind the spectators, of the nations who work themselves into furies over these absurd contests, and seriously believe — at any rate for short periods — that running, jumping and kicking a ball are tests of national virtue.

Even a leisurely game like cricket, demanding grace rather than strength, can cause much ill-will, as we saw in the controversy over body-line bowling and over the rough tactics of the Australian team that visited England in 1921. Football, a game in which everyone gets hurt and every nation has its own style of play which seems unfair to foreigners, is far worse. Worst of all is boxing because of the violence and that crowds cheer for that violence.

In England, the obsession with sport is bad enough, but even fiercer passions are aroused in young countries where games playing and nationalism are both recent developments. In countries like India or Burma, it is necessary at football matches to have strong cordons of police to keep the crowd from invading the field. In Burma, I have seen the supporters of one side break through the police and disable the goalkeeper of the opposing side at a critical moment. The first big football match that was played in Spain about fifteen years ago led to an uncontrollable riot. As soon as strong feelings of rivalry are aroused, the notion of playing the game according to the rules always vanishes. People want to see one side on top and the other side humiliated and they forget that victory gained through cheating or through the intervention of the crowd is meaningless. Even when the spectators don't intervene physically, they try to influence the game by cheering their own side and “rattling” opposing players with boos and insults. Serious sport has nothing to do with fair play. It is bound up with hatred, jealousy, boastfulness, disregard of all rules and sadistic pleasure in witnessing violence: in other words, it is war minus the shooting.

Source: Adapted from The Sporting Spirit by George Orwell

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

Mark your responses to these questions on your multiple choice answer sheet.

31. In paragraph 1, the author is

A. comparing the rivalries between two countries.
B. stating that professional sports often create hostilities.
C. analysing the impact of sports on neighbouring countries.
D. endorsing the view that sports can be a peace keeping factor.

32. The meaning of the word ‘deduce’ as used in line 5 is

A. arriving at a conclusion.
B. reaching an agreement.
C. negating an argument.
D. analysing a fact.

33. According to the information given in paragraph 2, sports can be played for fun only when

A. teams of two rival countries face each other.
B. teams of two friendly countries face each other.
C. two excellent teams from the same continent face each other.
D. neighbourhood teams having the same background face each other.

34. In lines 9-10, the author says that ‘as soon as you feel that you and some larger unit will be disgraced if you lose, the most savage combative instincts are aroused’. He says that in order to

A. show the positive nature of sports.
B. create a sense of danger and excitement.
C. emphasise that human beings are naturally competitive.
D. negate those who think professional sports are competitive.

35. What does the author say about those who think that ‘running, jumping and kicking a ball are tests of national virtue’? (Paragraph 2)

A. They are ambitious.
B. They are reasonable.
C. They are being realistic.
D. They are being irrational.

36. Why does the author think that boxing is far worse than any other sport? (Lines 19-20)

A. Boxing is not a license to anarchy.
B. Boxing can result in brain injuries.
C. Boxing promotes appreciation of violence.
D. Boxing matches may result in heart diseases.

37. In lines 21-22, the author states that ‘fiercer passions are aroused in young countries’. Which of the following is given as evidence of it?

A. Police control the crowd at matches from invading the field.
B. Countries like India and Burma play with a serious attitude.
C. Cricket is played illegally in younger nations.
D. It is meaningless to play and not win.

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

38. The last paragraph mentions that in a football match in Burma

A. people started fighting and it led to a riot.
B. feelings of nationalism resulted in better relations.
C. people cheered for teams with one specific ethnicity.
D. people attacked the field and disabled the goalkeeper.

39. In the last paragraph, the author points out that the desire for victory leads to

A. a healthy attitude.
B. breaking of rules.
C. disgrace and honour.
D. cheerfulness and happiness.

40. In this passage, the author presents

A. an argument.
B. a story.
C. a comparison.
D. a narration.

AKU-EB May Examination 2017

END OF PAPER

Please use this page for rough work

AKU-EB May Examination 2017